DAVEY TO TELL ROOSEVELT OHIO LEADERS UNITED

Governor Leads Delegation to Capital to Assure Assistance in State

30 DELEGATION MEMBERS

Purpose of Trip is to Pledge Aid; Farley to Be Visited By Group

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23—(UP)—Gov. Martin L. Davey and a group of Ohio Democrats came to the capital today to assure the Democratic high command that the party is "united" in Ohio and ready to "go down the line for the administration."

Davey planned to confer with both President Roosevelt and Postmaster General James A. Farley. The delegation planned a luncheon with the Ohio congressional delegation.

Not Davey's Parties

"This isn't my party, you know," the Governor said. "I'm just sort of trailing along. The main purpose of the visit is to assure Democratic leaders here that the party is united in Ohio and will support the entire Democratic ticket."

Accompanying the governor were Francis Poulson, Ohio Democratic campaign manager, and more than 30 other state Democratic leaders.

To Hear Olson, Too

In addition to the Ohio political discussions, Mr. Roosevelt's schedule showed a conference with Culbert Olson, Democratic state chairman in California and leader of the Upton Sinclair "Epic" faction.

ITALIAN, SOVIET LEADERS CLASH

Litvinov, Aloisi Argue in League Council Session

GENEVA, Jan. 23.—(UP)—A sharp clash between Italy and Soviet Russia marked a meeting of the council of the League of Nations today, Maxin Litvinov, Soviet Foreign commissar, in an attack on Uruguay for breaking diplomatic relations with Russia, said Uruguay, like Japan, Germany and Italy, is trying to exploit anti-communist prejudice. Of Italy he remarked that a country which recently committed an act of aggression is trying to stir up anti-soviet prejudice through its press.

Baron Pompeo Aloisi of Italy expressed deep resentment.

"Italy," he said, "does not need to find an excuse for its own action which it had the courage to undertake openly and for highly important reasons of civilization and security."

"It is not by words thrown into a debate absolutely remote from the Ethiopian question that it may be possible to define the attitude of my government in these grave problems connected with its rights and security."

BANKING COMPANY SUES ON $10,000 MORTGAGE

A suit for $10,000 on a note with interest and foreclosure of a mortgage on about 194 acres of land was filed in common pleas court Thursday by the Ashville Banking Co., against Harry B. Carpenter, Scioto-twp, and others. Mr. Carpenter was also named defendant in an action for foreclosure of a chattel mortgage given on a wheat crop given to secure payment of the note. Attorneys Leist & Leist represent the plaintiff.

Harold Pontius, 30, of Ashville is in Hospital

Harold Pontius, 30, of Ashville, suffered severe head injuries in Columbus Wednesday night when his automobile struck a utility pole at Seventh-ave and Sixth-st. He was blinded by a cloud of winddriven snow.

His condition was reported good Thursday by attaches of White Cross hospital, where he is receiving treatment.

Four county highway workers were weather victims Wednesday afternoon and evening. Ralph Wood, of the surveyor's office suffered two frozen fingers and nipped ears Wednesday night while working on the Kingston-pk.

Sam Schleich, Williamsport, and Sam Raub, Circleville, suffered frost bitten feet, James Stonerock, city, a frozen finger.

Cadet No Longer

DISCLOSURES of a secret wedding three years ago by his "disappointed-in-love" bride, forced the resignation of Richard T. Schrein of Crete, Neb., from the U. S. Military academy at West Point, N. Y., where no cadet is permitted to marry. Schrein's wife, Mrs. Lucille Taylor Schrein, revealed the nuptial secret to academy authorities when Schrein found a new love and refused to listen to wife's warning that "he would have to give up his commission or her." Schrein was one of the 12 making students in this year's graduation class.

PRESIDENT ASKS MONEY TO CLOSE AAA CONTRACTS

Appropriation of 300 Millions Asked of House Committee By Executive

"OBLIGATION" IS CITED

Action Sought on New Soil Conservation-Allotment Program

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23—(UP)—President Roosevelt today asked a $296,185,000 supplemental appropriation of the house appropriations committee to carry out rental and benefit payments on farm contracts under the old AAA program.

The supplemental appropriation will be used to carry out what the administration considers to be its "moral obligations" to complete contracts made with farmers before outlawing of the AAA. It brings the estimated cost of the administration's substitute farm program to $736,185,000 as $440,000,000 is being asked to pay benefits the proposed new farm plan.

Press for Action

The request was laid before the committee while congressional leaders pressed for early action on the administration's new soil conservation-domestic allotment farm plan to replace the invalidated AAA. The new plan, which has encountered some undercurrent opposition, would give the secretary of agriculture broad powers to pay benefits to farmers cooperating in the program, although no contracts could be made.

Mr. Roosevelt submitted his supplemental estimate with an accompanying statement from Acting Budget Director Daniel W. Bell explaining that the money was to be spent only for adjustment contracts prior to Jan. 6, when the Supreme court destroyed the AAA. The administration has considered these payments to farmers as a "moral" obligation.

Of the $296,000,000 requested by President Roosevelt, it was shown that $60,000,000 was to pay contracts entered into for the 1936 winter wheat program.

The request also included $6,000,000 for general administrative expenses; $1,310,000 for removal of surpluses; $12,935,000 for commodity program administrative expenses.

AIMEE'S MOTHER ASKS DIVORCE FROM HUDSON

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 23.—(UP)—Aimee Semple McPherson's mother, Mrs. Minnie (Ma) Kennedy Hudson, today had on file a suite for divorce against Guy Edward (Whattaman) Hudson with whom she figured in much marital litigation several years ago.

Mrs. Kennedy charged that Hudson deserted her. They were married in Longview, Wash., and again at Las Vegas, Nev., in 1931 when the first ceremony was questioned on a technicality.

207, Hungry and Cold, Trapped in Country School

Teachers Lead Children in Games to Prevent Panic While Awaiting Rescuers; Efforts Made to Open Roads Before Fuel Supply Gives Out Tonight; U. S. Toll High

LENEVA, Ind., Jan. 23.—(UP)—Two hundred children and seven teachers, prisoners in a little three room country school house, fought off cold and hunger today as they waited for rescuers to fight their way through mountainous drifts of snow.

Their fuel supply was barely enough to last another day.

Isolated by a blizzard which blocked all roads with drifts, the children and their small corps of teachers had remained huddled around wood stoves since yesterday morning.

Food carried through the drifts by William Anderson, a farmer living near the school, was rationed among the children by the teachers.

Telephones Lines Down

Telephone lines were down, and the only means of communication was through the Anderson farm. The teachers, under Russell Steinger, principal, organized the children in games to pass away the time and to prevent a panic from spreading among the frightened, hungry children.

Domestic science pupils stirred up batches of cookies and prepared meager meals for their younger classmates.

Anderson said efforts were being made to open the roads in time to remove the children before their fuel gave out tonight.

By United Press

Arctic blasts from the Canadian northwest swept a paralyzing cold wave across middle America Thursday. The bitter cold moved east after forcing the temperature to record lows in the middle west.

Only slight relief was forecast for central states late Thursday. A snowstorm with rising temperatures was predicted for Friday.

A piercing wind piled great drifts of snow on Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Kentucky roads, blocking motor traffic on most main highways. The death toll as the result of the rawest cold wave since the turn of the century totaled more than a score. Four died in fires. Hundreds suffered frozen ears, hands and feet.

55 Below in Northwest

The 55 below zero reading at International Falls, Minn., Wednesday was not expected to be exceeded anywhere on the continent today but temperatures far below zero were common. At Minneapolis an all-time record low of 33.5 degrees below was recorded.

COUNCILMEN GIVEN REST

City councilmen are having an unusual "rest" period this month. Regular meetings were held on Jan. 1 and 15 and the next regular meeting will be held Feb. 5, a three-week jump. Meetings are held the first and third Wednesdays of each month.

Sorrow, Joy In Frigid Weather

ST. JOSEPH, Mich., Jan. 23.—(UP)—A German shepherd dog was credited today with saving the life of Betty Jane Mason, three years old, when she became trapped in her smoke-filled home.

Betty's mother, frantic and nearly overcome by smoke while rescuing 18-months old Ceola, Betty's younger sister, was making an attempt to enter the burning house when the dog pulled Betty into the open. The pet was leading the little girl by one arm.

Do you like to swim in this kind of weather? The Hi-Y club of the local school does, and intends to this evening. But—the scene will be the heated Y. M. C. A. pool in Columbus.

MILWAUKEE, Jan. 23.—(UP)—Earl Harling, a WPA worker, blamed relief authorities today for the death of his two-months-old son, Raymond, who froze to death in his crib.

The child, covered only with a coat and skirt, died when the temperature dropped to 21 degrees below zero.

Harling said relief authorities turned down his request for coal a week ago on the grounds his $60 a month WPA salary disqualified him.

Miss Sally Lynch, W. Mount-st., reported today that 52 years ago on Jan. 25 the temperature fell to 26 degrees below zero in Circleville. She recalls the date because Jan. 25 was the wedding anniversary of her parents.

AMSTERDAM, Jan. 23.—(UP)—Firemen, finding all water pipes in town frozen, resorted to dynamite today to prevent spread of a fire which destroyed three buildings and threatened the whole village. Damage was estimated at $50,000.

Pulled from Drift

A gasoline truck and four autos were pulled from a snowdrift Wednesday night on the Kingston-pk near the home of Frank Duvall. County workers reported the drift was about three feet deep on one side of the road and covered about 500 feet of the highway.

A drift about 1,000 feet long was reported on the Goose Pond-pk. County road employees working on the drift Wednesday afternoon were unable to get a county truck out of the drift and had to walk back to Circleville.

MERCURY FALLS TO -16 IN CITY; STATE SUFFERS

MAIL BY BUS DELAYED

Alexander Says Temperature May Climb Friday; to Be Low Tonight

The record-breaking cold wave, that sent the thread of mercury to 16 degrees below zero Thursday morning, continued its paralyzing grip on Pickaway-co.

Schools were closed, county roads were blocked with huge snowdrifts, and practically all meetings and social affairs were cancelled. All outdoor WPA projects were suspended Wednesday afternoon, and few residents ventured from their homes.

Up Slightly at Noon

The official temperature at 7 a. m. was 16 degrees below zero, Dr. H. R. Clarke reported. In many sections of the county residents reported readings as low as 20 degrees below zero. At 11 a. m. the mercury rested at 12 degrees below.

W. H. Alexander, state meteorologist, Columbus, warned Ohioans to "dig in" for at least another 48 hours of the sub-zero weather. The forecast for tonight was "fair and continued cold." He predicted the temperatures would not fall quite so low as they did Wednesday night, but he warned all sections to expect temperatures of between five and 10 degrees below zero.

Among Lowest in Years

The 16 below zero reading was one of the lowest readings in the 66-year history of the Ohio weather department. Dr. H. R. Clarke reported Pickaway-co has had no such temperature since the winter of 1917-18 but he was unable to give dates from his records.

All county schools were closed Thursday and officials doubted if an attempt would be made to reopen them Friday. Practically all pupils were sent home Wednesday noon to eliminate the danger of having buses marooned in the blizzard. The Ashville school remained open Wednesday but was closed Thursday morning because of frozen pipes in the building and drifted roads. Few school buses were able to cover their entire routes Wednesday.

Classes were conducted in Circleville schools, but the attendance was only about 40 per cent of normal. Frank Fischer, superintendent, reported. In the high school, 123 pupils were listed "not present." Janitors of all the buildings worked through the night to keep fires up. All buildings were reported comfortable.

At least one Scioto Valley bus was blocked by drifts Thursday morning. The bus leaving Circleville at 6:59 for Chillicothe via Kingston was unable to penetrate drifts on the Kingston-rd. Only the driver and one passenger, a man endeavoring to reach Jackson, O., were on the bus. It returned to the local station, then went back to Columbus. The passenger waited for the 9:38 a. m. bus to Chillicothe.

A gasoline truck and four autos were pulled from a snowdrift Wednesday night on the Kingston-pk near the home of Frank Duvall. County workers reported the drift was about three feet deep on one side of the road and covered about 500 feet of the highway.

OHIO DEADLOCK OVER QUESTIONS IS NEARING END

Senate Back in Session as House Prepares to Vote Financial Bill

COLUMBUS, Jan. 23.—(UP)—The special session of the Ohio legislature, which started last Sept. 18, was believed by leaders to be heading toward early adjournment today.

There were strong indications that the deadlock between the senate and house over poor relief financing would be broken today, and that a new appropriations bill calling for $90,413,000 would be passed by the house.

Senate in Session
The senate returned to work for the first time in two weeks, to complete passage of the relief and budget measures, and to clear the slate of other unfinished business.

Wrangling over the poor relief issue was climaxed yesterday by a heated argument on the floor of the house between Democratic Speaker J. Freer Bittinger and Republican Leader William M. McCulloch. Each accused the other of falsehood.

The argument started because the house conferees on poor relief allegedly had not been given "a free hand" to compromise the differences between the house and senate. McCulloch charged the Republican members had been "double crossed" by the Democratic leadership.

"You're a damn liar," Bittinger replied to the accusation.

"And you're a damn liar and I can prove it by six witnesses," McCulloch quickly answered.

McCulloch asserted Bittinger had attempted to dictate what the house conferees should insist upon in the relief bill.

Walk Out Threatened
Angered, McCulloch returned to his seat and sought recognition to make a motion, presumably to propose reconsideration of the house vote rejecting senate amendments to the relief bill. Ignored by the speaker, the Republican leader hastily conferred with several colleagues.

Then an ultimatum was served on Bittinger that the Republicans were on the verge of walking out, which would tie up the session, unless the speaker agreed to cooperate in breaking the deadlock on relief.

The Democratic leadership immediately called for a recess and a conference of leaders of both sides was held. The result was an agreement to let relief conferees work without interference.

Although poor relief and the budget are the major measures to be disposed of, a sundries claim bill calling for $748,470 also is pending. The bill was introduced yesterday in the house.

Without an opposing vote the house late yesterday passed the Ross bill, designed to make available immediately money with which to pay old age pensioners. The pension fund was exhausted last week.

The bill, which still has to pass the senate, authorizes the state finance director to borrow from the general revenue fund money needed to pay the pensions, pending collection of liquor profits and liquor gallonage tax revenues.

After reconsidering the vote by which it was defeated Tuesday, the house also passed the Ward bill to provide for an annual examination of real estate tax exemptions as a means of restoring to the tax duplicate property that is illegally exempted.

Rep. P. E. Ward told the house approximately one-eighth of Ohio real estate is on the exempted list. His measure now goes to the senate.

Other measure passed in the house included the Schlesier bill designed to prohibit the sale of trade-marked and nationally advertised commodities at cut rate prices, and the Kilpatrick bill to transfer the state fire marshal's division from the commerce to the industrial relations department. Both measures go to the senate.

The governor of New Jersey, it is now reported, will favor the Townsend Plan if its beneficiaries are to include all baby-killers.

All public schools in Chicago and in many other midwest cities were closed Thursday. Rural schools in some areas were closed for the rest of the week.

Snowdrifts 16 feet deep were piled against a bus containing 45 children near St. Clairsville, O., 10 miles west of Wheeling, W. Va. The children were taken across fields in sleighs to their homes or to nearby farmhouses.

Another bus stranded in Belmont-co, Ohio, was located by farmers and the children transferred to sleighs. A third bus skidded into a huge drift near Richville, Ky. Pupils were rescued by motorists.

Automobiles Marooned
More than 500 cars were marooned on United States highway 27 near Nicholasville, Ky., last night. Police and deputies brought many of the motorists into Lexington. Scores of other cars were stalled on the Harrodsburg and Paris pikes with the temperature at 13 below zero.

An overheated oil stove started a blaze in a third floor flat on Chicago's near west side early today. A negro father and two of his nine children were burned to death. Six of the children jumped into firemen's nets. Another was injured critically when he jumped from a third floor window to the ground.

At Paris, Ill., one fireman was killed and two injured severely while fighting a blaze in 14 below zero weather in a two-story brick business building late Wednesday night. The three were on a ladder when a wall collapsed, burying them under the debris.

Twenty children marooned by heavy drifts in a country school, northwest of Chicago were rescued by state highway police. The heating plant in the school failed to function.

Huge Area Struck
The extreme cold struck suddenly early Wednesday in the northwest and moved swiftly across the continent. The area in the frigid zone included most of the territory from the eastern part of Montana, south along the Rocky Mountains to northern Oklahoma and north east through the middle west to the Alleghenies.

While Midamerica froze, temperatures in Alaska were surprisingly high. Juneau reported 36 above zero and Calgary, Alberta had a reading of 2 above. The cold wave did not strike the far west nor Denver where the mercury stood at 2 above Thursday. Chicago firemen raced over icy streets to 53 fires within six and one-half hours in bitter cold weather Wednesday. Overtaxed heating plants were blamed for most of the blazes.

More than 3,000 homeless persons were taken into Chicago relief shelters during the night. Police stations were crowded with other transients seeking shelter. Chicago hotels, already crowded with convention visitors, were taxed to capacity when hundreds of office workers decided not to return to their outlying homes during the severe cold.

Railroad trains in the northwest were hours behind schedule. Trains leaving Chicago for that territory were equipped with extra locomotives. Near Centerville, Ill., a southern railway passenger train crashed into a freight on a trestle. The passenger train engineer, who said he was blinded by the snow, suffered a broken leg.

One cheerful report occasioned by the bitter cold came from trapped near East Ringgold and had to be pulled out with a team.

Government mail carriers were unable to cover their entire routes Thursday. Mail on buses was arriving late and a bus due from Athens Wednesday evening had not been heard from Thursday morning.

Train service was not affected by the weather.

Meeting Postponed
Numerous meetings scheduled in the city and county have been postponed because of the weather and the dangerous condition of the roads.

Howard Sweetman, county surveyor, warned motorists not to attempt to drive over the county and township roads. "The safest policy is to stay off of the roads," he said. He explained it was practically impossible for his workers to clear some of the drifts. Places cleared Wednesday were filled with snow again Thursday morning. Numerous men in his department suffered frozen fingers and ears while working Wednesday. Some of the drifts cannot be moved with road scrapers, he reported, and the drifts will have to be shoveled away before the highways can be used for traffic.

"On Tuesday evening we had the 290 miles of county roads in this county cleared," Mr. Sweetman said, "and now they are in worst condition than they had been before we started."

Employees of the state highway garage worked until midnight Wednesday plowing and shoveling snowdrifts and then spent the remainder of the night in the garage ready to answer emergency calls.

The department reported all main highways open at noon with the exception of Route 56 near Leisville. Workers hoped to have a huge drift at that point removed during the afternoon.

George Bayne, employee of the surveyor's office, started for his home in Lancaster Wednesday evening, and could drive no further than Amanda, where he spent the night. He reported two cars had been abandoned along Route 22 and about two miles west of the Pickaway-co line a bus was lodged in the center of Route 22. Snow

James E. Bennett, crop forecaster, who said destruction of insect life may increase production of crops this season.

The death list included six residents of Chicago and vicinity who died, as the result of falls on icy streets or in skidding automobiles. At Peru, Ind., Jess Schriver, 52, was killed when a high wind blew him under a Wabash switch engine.

Four persons died in Minnesota, six in Wisconsin, two in Indiana, three in Illinois and a farmer near Atchison, Kans., froze to death.

Local garages received more calls for help from distressed motorists Thursday morning than they were able to handle. The majority of the calls were to start autos with batteries paralyzed by the cold.

The cold wave was held responsible for at least one death in the state. William Forgrave 66, Columbus, died on a downtown street from a heart attack. Harriett Carder, 75, McConnessville, was near death at Zanesville from burns received when her clothing caught fire as she stood in front of an open fireplace.

The state highway department at Columbus reported numerous roads impassable. Officials said the high winds swept snow back as fast as it was removed from heavy drifts.

Two Counties Isolated
Cambridge and Guernsey-co were almost isolated except for Route 40 on the National highway which was still open. Other roads reported closed included highways in Coshocton, Fairfield, Knox, Licking, Muskingum and Perry counties.

The two-inch snow that accompanied the blizzard brought the average snowfall in the state for the current winter to 23 inches. It is the greatest seasonal fall for the state since the severe winter of 1917-1918 when 41 inches of snow fell from early December to Jan. 31.

The suddenness with which the cold wave struck accentuated the discomfort it caused. Within sixteen hours the temperature took a drop of 48 degrees.

The Columbus weather bureau reported the cold wave as the worst experienced in 36 years. The all-time average low for the state was 20 degrees below zero first touched Jan. 3, 1879 and then reached again on Feb. 10, 1899.

Spend Night in Rooms

It was estimated that approximately 500 children in various parts of the state spent the night at their class-room desks or were carried to nearby farm houses by their teachers and volunteer rescuers.

Schools in which students were trapped by the storm included gloves. The robber's hands were so cold. He fumbled only long enough to get $4 of Lanis' $24.

COLUMBUS, Jan. 23.—(UP)—Snow covered fields in Ohio today threatened to wipe out quail and small game unless farmers provide food for them, Lawrence Woodell, state conservation commissioner said. Game wardens in the Stauton Centralized school near Troy; the Gilboa school near Findlay and the Urbana Township school in Champaign-co.

Buses that carried children were caught in drifts at St. Clairsville, Glencoe, Ada, Westerville, Terre Haute and Newark. All children were carried to safety and cared for in farm homes.

The extreme conditions brought forth extra calls on relief authorities in meeting the demand for coal of relief clients was reported at Zanesville.

At North Baltimore a fire broke out in the main business district and caused damage estimated at $3000. Fire hydrants were frozen and the blaze had to be fought entirely with chemicals.

Borah says he will elaborate upon his reaction to the Townsend Plan at "the proper time." We can hardly wait.

METHODIST UNION

AFTER agitation covering most of the seventy years since the close of the Civil war, the three great Methodist groups in the United States are to vote on a formal plan of merger. If it is accomplished and the Methodist Episcopal Church, the Methodist Episcopal Church South and the Methodist Protestant church become one, the newly constituted Methodist Church will have a communicant enrollment in excess of 7,200,000.

Statistics reveal that there are slightly more Baptist communicants than Methodists in the United States. They are not, however, united and the new Methodist Church would be numerically second in the country.

General conferences of the three Methodist organizations will vote on the merger plan and, if they ratify it, the plan will in turn be submitted to the regional conferences. Two general conferences will meet next May, but that of the Methodist Episcopal Church South will not be held until 1938. At least five or six years would be required to complete the merger, but there are differences that make it impossible to be certain of the outcome.

Though their disciples and procedure vary to some degree, there is no essential difference in faith among the three Methodist groups, which had a common rigin. The breach between Methodists North and South grew out of the issues that brought on the Civil war.

Ethiopia never really knew off she was with a war on her hands until Messrs. Hoare and Laval revealed their plan for peace.

Have all the anti-tobacconists — who were going to have the weed outlawed by an amendment or something—joined the Townsend Plan?

The days of necromancy are over, says one who has never observed the deft way in which Mr. Farley transforms a post-office deficit into a surplus.

WORLD AT A GLANCE

Ohio is a doubtful state and, for once, has no favorite son. This the Republicans chose Cleveland, metropolis of Ohio, for their 1936 national convention.

The convention, beginning on June 9, will be favored undoubtedly by characteristically "perfect" spring weather along the beautiful southern shores of Lake Erie. But there is no certainty that the political atmosphere will be so congenial.

Republicans have been speaking of Cleveland as a major city that recently elected a Republican mayor by the largest majority a Cleveland mayor ever received. That must be taken with a grain of salt. Cleveland mayoralty elections are supposedly non-partisan. In the preliminary election Harold Burton, running as a reform candidate, defeated Mayor Harry Davis, Old Guard Republican. But the runner-up was former Mayor Ray T. Miller, Old Guard Democrat. Thus Burton had a run-off with Miller. And the voters had no difficulty deciding. Thus Burton ran and won as a non-partisan reform candidate.

WHAT IS POLITICS?

What, then, is the political complexion of Cleveland, metropolis of this fourth most populous state?

Nobody knows. Cleveland is independent. It was the largest city to go for La Follette for president, when the elder La Follette ran as a progressive. It went for Al Smith in the Hoover landslide. And now? To this observer it seems to be strongly for Roosevelt. Tens of thousands of organized workers outnumber Republican business men. But that all depends on Mr.

Roosevelt. The city, in reality, is for Dr. Townsend. And you know what that means.

OHIO?

How will the state go? This writer has had an observer going through Ohio to obtain sentiment on various subjects discussed in this column.

No one knows how the state will go. That depends largely on three things: (1) Taxes; (2) What President Roosevelt will do in a forward movement now; (3) What sort of a candidate the Republicans will select.

The state as a whole will not care a whoop that the Republicans are nominating a man in Cleveland. In fact, the state has a suspicion of the Union club of Cleveland. That Republican stronghold is dominated by "up-state millionaires." (The writer questions that there are many millionaires in Ohio. Wealth is fairly well distributed till one gets to the lower stratum—which is as miserable here as elsewhere.)

Ohio has a Democratic governor, both senators are Democratic, and three of the four congressmen living in Cleveland are Democratic.

It has 18 Democratic representatives and six Republican.

BEST CHANCES

The guess is that Governor Alf M. Landon of Kansas will have the best chance in Cleveland.

The men who brought the convention to Cleveland may be classed as Landon and Hoover men. Ohio, itself, probably would favor Senator William E. Borah of Idaho. Imagine the racket those 22,000 scappers will make!

SUPREME COURT ATTACK ON LABOR LAWS HEALING RIFT IN A. F. OF L.

WASHINGTON—The threatening shadow of the U. S. Supreme Court is causing wheels to turn in farm corners.

A few weeks ago, Old Guard craft-union leaders of the A. F. of L. were planning an uncompromising fight against insurgent industrial unionists. Preparations had gone so far that secret steps already were under way to expel the revolting chiefs.

With the prospect almost certain that the Supreme Court will junk the Wagner Labor Disputes Act and other labor measures, the A. F. of L. moguls are looking for no family fights. The ominous danger of losing the great legislative gains they have made in the last few years leaves them with no stomach for internal warring.

The Old Guard leaders realize the vital necessity of a united front, are making secret peace overtures to the industrial unionists.

President Bill Green has quietly opened negotiations with John L. Lewis, mine chief and leader of the insurgents, looking to a healing of the rift that has threatened to split the A. F. of L. wide open. As a peace gesture, Green has proposed that the industrial unionists have a free hand in organizing the auto, steel and rubber industries.

LARGE FAMILY

Colleagues who accompanied Jack Garner to the Far East are telling the following story on the Vice President of the United States:

In Shanghai the congressional party was invited to a banquet by the leading Chinese business man, a British subject who had been knighted by King George. Before they sat down to dinner, the American guests met his ten children.

The banquet was laid in an elaborate sunken garden. There were five tables. Presiding over each was a charming Chinese woman—one of the wives of the host and also a mother of one or more of his children.

Most of the American visitors, including Mrs. Garner, had been told about their host's marital arrangements. But Jack had not.

As ranking guests he and Mrs. Garner sat at the table of their host, who was accompanied by his No. 1 wife. During the course of the dinner Jack complimented his hostess on her beautiful home. Then he added:

"I also want to congratulate you on your large family of fine children. In American, I am sorry to say, we no longer have large families. When I was a boy, however, I knew a number of mothers of ten children."

MURDER UPSTAIRS

By ADAM BLISS

CHAPTER 52

EVERYONE was at dinner except Mrs. Starnott and Mr. Hemingway. She had sent down word that she didn't care for even a tray, and Mr. Hemingway said he wasn't hungry when I knocked at his door after he had disregarded the gong.

After dinner I cleared the dishes and helped Grace with the kitchen work. She asked when she was finished whether she could go up to Mrs. Starnott's room safely. I suggested a small tray, so she fixed that, and went away.

I was still in the kitchen at 9 o'clock when Kirk Larrabee came from headquarters via the back door. He looked over my shoulder as I sat at the table writing my grocery list. "Worried?" he asked, kindly.

"Yes." I was worried. I was frantic with worry, with bewilderment, with that miserable conclusion I had made in the phone booth this afternoon coming back and back at me like a buzzing fly.

"You know something." His agile brain again. "Dr. Rudemar told you something when you called him on the phone."

He was wrong there. Dr. Rudemar hadn't told me anything I didn't know. The conclusion I had made in the booth was an old one, too, days old now.

"I'll know soon, Mrs. Penny." He was his old self again. All the coldness he had displayed in the sitting room was gone. Apparently I was forgiven for having secretly phoned Dr. Rudemar. "I have a warrant for the arrest of Hemingway in my pocket."

"For his arrest?" "Yes. He finally told me some things this afternoon."

"Confessed?" My voice was only a whisper. "No confession yet, but the information he gave me is strong enough to warrant his arrest for murder."

"You think he did it?" "Do you?"

Throwing it in my lap again. I was silent. He could take that silence any way he chose. If Larrabee wanted to suspect Martin Hemingway, wanted to arrest him, I had my own suspicions, too.

Larrabee was in a confidential mood. "Let me tell you about Hemingway. I've been worried about the voice that answered Conrad Withers Tuesday morning from Darlen's bedroom. The voice that told him to enter. It was obvious to me, from the first, that it must belong to someone in this house. Perhaps Hemingway. Surely Hemingway. It was a man's voice unless Withers was lying. He wasn't lying. It was a man's voice, and it was Hemingway. He told me this afternoon after I had questioned him for an hour. "He was in the habit of going into Darlen's room early in the morning. "Sometimes they had their business conferences there before the household was awake. He entered by the closet door, which was usually left open on Darlen's side. Often, Hemingway awakened Darlen. They worked together, as you probably know by this time, on Darlen's blackmail schemes, consulted with each other constantly. Tuesday morning—it really started Monday night—Hemingway was busy. There had been no consultation about Janet Bell, and Hemingway had overheard a bit of conversation—not much—during Janet's visit to Darlen's room. "He wanted to know more about it, of course. Knowing his employer, for that's who Darlen really was to him, was never in a good mood at night, he waited until morning, came in about 5, which was earlier than usual, but he couldn't wait any longer after a sleepless night. He found Darlen dead.

"For a moment he was panic stricken, so he says, then his head cleared. There might be some papers in the room. He looked for them, found them, and was still going through the desk when Withers knocked. In a moment he was in the closet, calling 'come in.' A mistake, but he had to do something. He heard the door open and someone enter slowly. He told me he recognized Withers from the closet door which was not quite closed, saw his hesitancy, saw Withers leave softly without raising an alarm.

"Then Hemingway slipped Darlen's closet door bolt, went out into the hall and to his own room, and bolted the closet door from his side. So, Tuesday morning two men in the house knew Darlen was murdered, and neither of them gave an alarm. Hemingway swears he didn't dare to because he was afraid he might be thought the murderer. Withers probably thought the same thing, that is, if he's innocent."

His voice was very low. I had to bend forward to hear him. "Hemingway also swears that he didn't murder Darlen, that when he went into the room at 5 o'clock Tuesday morning, Darlen already was dead.

"Strange, isn't it, that two men should enter Darlen's room, discover he had been murdered, and not give an alarm?"

"The papers Mr. Hemingway found," I inquired. "He didn't find much, a few letters and a few documents, he says. He took them and burned them before breakfast. He must have taken everything in the room because when we looked there was nothing in Darlen's desk, except unimportant correspondence that had no possible bearing on his murder."

"And Della?" "He claims he had no idea he was Della's secret love. Claims, in fact, that he never went up to the fourth floor since he put his trunk away in the storeroom. He told me all this very convincingly. Never changed his story once, but that doesn't erase the fact that all night long the latch on Darlen's closet door remained open between the two rooms, and that he had the opportunity to kill Darlen."

"Did he hear anything during the night?" "He did change his statement there. At first he said that he slept soundly all night long. Today he tells me he didn't sleep at all, that he spent most of the night sitting in a chair, smoking, and wondering why Janet Bell was important to Darlen. It seems he's fond of Janet, more so than he has been of any other girl he's known. He's been wanting to marry her ever since she came to the house. I judge that the other afternoon when he went to her room, he proposed again and when she refused him, he accused her of threatening to kill Darlen. In his anger over her refusal he came to me, and told me about her threat. There are men like that, you know."

"You haven't told me what he heard Monday night—" I interjected.

"He heard nothing until Withers threw some gravel at your window. Nothing. And he sticks by that story, too. The house was very quiet, he says."

"His room was in darkness but he couldn't see who was on the lawn. His windows face east and Withers was in front, under your windows. At first he contemplated going down and opening the door, then decided against it. He heard you on the stairs. You were puffing a little and sighing, he says. Then later, half an hour later, he heard you come up again, sighing. He was listening for you, he admits, standing near his door. I asked him if he heard Miss Cambridge with you, and he said no, he thought you were alone."

"After that?" "The next thing he heard, aside from the little noises about the house, was when he was in Darlen's room—Withers' knock. Now Hemingway was awake all night. He was on the second floor, and says he heard nothing except what I've told you. Withers was awake on the third floor, and said he heard nothing. All night long. Another snag."

Ordinary Foods Served In Home Fulfill Needs

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

WE HAVE been considering what it is that makes a natural diet, analyzing the needs of the body and the contributions that food makes to its healthy operation. We have discussed mostly chemical compounds rather than the more familiar food products, and the question may be asked, exactly what food products constitute a natural diet?

In the first place, I believe that our analysis of the situation has given us this much comfort—that if we eat naturally the things that it is customary to place before us, we will obtain a natural diet without giving much thought to the matter. Custom, in other words, has arranged our diet to conform to the best scientific thought. It is only when we are led astray into the field of dietary fads that we are liable to have an unhealthy diet.

Usual Diet Supplies Needs

The natural diet will take care of the energy requirements of the body by furnishing about half of the daily food intake in the form of vegetables, fruits, bread, sugar, desserts, cereals, etc. You will receive about a quarter of your food in the form of fat—butter, cream, gravy, fat meats, oils, etc. These will be used for immediate energy or be stored for reserve energy.

The wear and tear of life will be neutralized by tissue replacement, which constitutes about one-quarter of the food intake, as protein, in the form of meats, eggs and some vegetable proteins (bread, beans, cereals, etc.)

Replacement of necessary minerals, rather than tissues, will be made by a small amount of salts which are found in the food anyway, if cooked under average conditions of American living.

The vitamins and roughage will, in most instances, be fully taken care of in any average dietary.

QUESTIONS FROM READERS J. W. M.: "I would very much appreciate it if you would explain in your column why one person is able to eat a certain food without any bad results, while another dare not touch the same food."

Answer: This may be due to a great many causes. It depends upon what the results are. If some people have hives from eating a certain kind of food, it is due to sensitivity to that food. The same thing is true of asthma, and possibly attacks of colic and diarrhea. In cases where eating a certain food causes discomfort in the stomach, it is probably due to one of three or four things, most commonly an excessive amount of acid in the gastric secretion. This condition is aggravated by such things as sweet foods, certain vegetables—such as tomatoes, and fruits. People without the excessive acid in the stomach do not experience any discomfort after eating such foods.

Another cause is gall bladder inflammation, and still another is ulcer of the stomach, the treatment of which is something like excessive acidity of the stomach contents.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Six pamphlets by Dr. Clendenening can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin, for each, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendenening, 638 S. of this paper. Poems That Live

TO SLEEP

A flock of sheep that leisurely pass by,
One after one; the sound of rain, and bees

Murmuring; the fall of rivers, winds and seas,
Smooth fields, white sheets of water, and pure sky;
I've thought of all by turns, and yet do lie

Sleepless; and soon the small birds' melodies
Must hear, first uttered from my orchard trees;
And the first cuckoo's melancholy cry.

Even thus last night, and two nights more, I lay,
And could not win thee, Sleep! by any stealth:

So do not let me wear tonight away;

Without Thee what is all the morning's wealth?

Come blessed barrier between day and day.

Dear mother of fresh thoughts and joyous health!

Worthy Grand Matron To be at O. E. S. Session

Over 200 Expected to Attend District Meeting

Harriet Rein of Youngstown, Worthy Grand Matron of Ohio, is planning to attend the meeting of the twenty-third district Order of the Eastern Star to be held Friday afternoon and evening in the local Masonic temple.

Over two hundred members from the twelve chapters in the district are expected to be present at the sessions.

Mrs. Bessie Whaley of Frankfort, district president, will be in charge of the afternoon session opening at 1:30 o'clock at which there will be a school of instruction, election and installation of officers.

A number of other grand officers will be present to share honors with the worthy grand matron.

A dinner will precede the evening session. Mrs. G. H. Adkins, worthy matron of the local temple is general chairman of the meeting. Mrs. Ed Helwag is chairman of the dinner.

Mrs. John Weade of Washington C. H., deputy grand matron of this district will be in charge of the ritualistic work in the evening.

Book Review Postponed

The book review scheduled for Friday evening at the Presbyterian church has been cancelled for this week but will be given at a later date.

The Westminster Bible class of the church was to present Mrs. Depew Head in her second of a series of reviews tomorrow. Mrs. Head was to review "Mary Queen of Scots."

Marian Martin

PATTERN 9745

What better frock to begin the New Year with than this—a trim variation of the ever-popular shirt-maker? Practical for any number of daytime occasions, it's an all-around basic style that goes with any set of accessories you may already possess. There's a brisk, military air about it, imparted by those two over-the-shoulder pieces, and isn't the stand-up collar youthful and pert? Note the original manner of pairing off contrasting buttons down the front, and the way an inverted back pleat gives extra fullness to the bodice. A finely checked woolen would make an exceptionally smart version, as would a light serge or a tie silk print.

Velveteen—with long sleeves, if it's a somewhat dressier frock you had in mind. Complete, Diagrammed Marian Martin Sew Chart included.

Pattern 9745 may be ordered only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 requires 2 1/2 yards 39 inch fabric.

Be sure to send for OUR NEW PATTERN BOOK and see how easily your Spring wardrobe can reflect the latest fashions! Dozens of smart models for every occasion—some sketched, some photographed. Lovely new fabrics and how to make best use of them. New costume accessories. Smart slendering styles. Clothes to suit. Patterns for the whole family. PRICE OF BOOK FIVE CENTS. BOOK AND A PATTERN TOGETHER, TWENTY-FIVE CENTS.

Send your order to The Herald, Pattern Department, 210 N. Court-st., Circleville, Ohio.

ASHVILLE SCHOOL NEWS

With the aid of a microscope the pupils of the fifth grade examined the legs and wings of flies for dirt. We found a goodly supply on the small hairs of each part. On looking at drops of blood we saw the red corpuscles floating in plasma. We were astonished at the amount of corpuscles in one drop.

We also looked at vinegar, milk, coffee, ink, grape juice, and a piece of cloth.

We wrote on a piece of paper, then viewed it through the microscope. We saw that the solid line was composed of broken fragments with a silvery color.

We have divided our Arithmetic class into three groups A. B. and C.

Eighth Grade

The three pupils having the highest semester average in all subjects are Joan Tosca, Frank Hinkle, and Mary Wilkins.

"Perfect Spelling" pencils are given to those pupils who have no grades below 90 for six weeks. Margaret McNary and Mary Wilkins received pencils for the last six weeks.

The following fifth grade pupils have been neither absent nor tardy for the first semester: Ellis Cline, Aretha Gray, Frank Hinkle, Jimmy Morrison, Paul Pettibone, Celestia Tustin, Viola Ware, and Mary Wilkins. Late arrivals who haven't been absent since entering are Joan Tosca, Margaret McNary and Betty Lou Presler.

The fifth grade pupils are divided into seven groups. Each week a different group is in charge of the 'Opening Exercises.'

1. Scholastic Attainments.

Thelma Ray has the highest semester average. Others with high averages are: Charlotte Courtwright, Charlotte Dunnick, Dorothy Hinkle, Florence Smith, and William Martin.

2. Attendance Records.

Perfect attendance records for the semester are held by: Ruth

Cain, Charlotte Dunnick, Dorothy Hinkle, Pearl Tigner, Nanna Wallen, Annabell Ward, Ralph Carley, Junior Gregg, Ernest Martin, William Martin, Cecil McGlone and Junior Neff.

3. Highest scores in Semester Tests.

Arithmetic, Thelma Ray. Geography, William Martin. English, Thelma Ray, Dorothy Hinkle.

History, Charlotte Dunnick, Ralph Carley.

Agriculture, Ralph McNeal. Civics, Cecil McGlone.

Spelling, Charlotte Dunnick.

Ashville Junior Class

Ashville basketball fans were highly elated last Friday night over the two splendid games our teams played to down the New Holland boys and girls on their own court. The score of the girls game was 20 to 17 and the boys 28 to 22. New Holland followers didn't think their boys could possibly be defeated at home by Ashville with her star guard, Steinbrook, out of the lineup. So the blow was an especially shocking one to them, although the girls game was just as great a surprise.

The local P. T. A. enjoyed a very interesting and profitable meeting last Thursday night in spite of the severe weather. The state Chairman on membership, I. W. Basinger, told the members many things about the work of the organization which they didn't know before.

Mrs. C. A. Higley, delegate to the Akron state meeting last fall, gave a report on the work of the convention and the Third Grade pupils gave a fine little play on health.

The social committee served sandwiches and coffee

ORIENT

Mrs. Henry Stauch spent a few days with her daughter Mrs. Kessler.

Francis Hoover is attending the last quarter at O. S. U.

Mrs. Warren Whiteside is reported much better.

Dorothy Jean Crawford has entered Bliss College.

James Kessler was pleasantly surprised by a group of friends for his birthday Wednesday evening. Those present were Howe Davie, Frances Davie, Carl Gulick, Francis Hoover, Clara Thrallkill, Marvin Mason, Helen Beavers, William Thrallkill, Velma Burgett, Kenneth Fuller, Helen Fuller, Verne Burgett, Clara Bausch, Kathryn Hensel, Frederick Kunz, Elsie Bausch, Willard Rouff, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bausch, Jim and Marguerite Kessler, Mrs. Henry Stauch and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Kunz and Mr. and Mrs. Kessler. A lunch was served of ice cream and cake all departed at a late hour, wishing Jim many more happy birthdays.

Miss Velma Burgett spent Saturday night with Mr. and Mrs. Roy Burgett and family and attended the basketball game at the fair grounds.

FIGHT MANAGER CHARGES LOUIS "RUNNING OUT"

Feldman's Boss Claims Object of Trip to Honolulu is "Dodge"

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—(UP)—Joe Louis' Honolulu honeymoon is a smoke screen behind he is hiding to dodge Abe Feldman—at least that's Manager Hymie Caplin's version of the brown bomber's decision not to fight again until he meets Max Schmeling this summer.

Caplin, who is from the Joe (we was robbed) Jacobs' school of protestors, does not stop at accusing Louis of running out of a match with his fighter, but charges that Promoter Mike Jacobs is building up the brown bomber out of all proportion to his real fighting worth.

Rated Too Good

"I had no intention of mentioning my deductions about the build up they're putting over on Joe Louis until they deliberately ran out on a match with Feldman," Caplin said. "First, I gotta tell you I think Louis is a good fighter but I don't think he's so good he can knock out anybody any time he wants. He can call shots against those poor old has-beens they're feeding him but not against a young fighter who knows anything at all about the art of box fighting."

"Who do they give him?" Caplin asked. "Nobody who is able to fight. Baer's hands were in no shape for him to be in the ring. Camera hasn't been any good since Baer beat him up. Levin's been all washed up for some time. Retzlaff has the worst game—chin in the game. Poor old Paulino has been through for years. And now they're protecting him for another soft touch. Schmeling was knocked out by Baer two years ago. Hamas beat him badly in 1934 and Paulino held him to a draw the same year."

Promised Jan. 31

Caplin insists that back in December Jacobs promised Feldman a bout with Louis at Detroit Jan. 31, and told him not to take any other matches.

THOMAS ACCEPTS JOB AS 'PRO' AT SCIOTO

COLUMBUS, Jan. 23.—(UP)—Joe Thomas, former professional at the Jackson (O.) country club and later at the Brookside, Indian Springs and Arlington courses here, today was named professional at the Scioto country club. He succeeds the veteran P. O. Hart.

ART LASKY WINNER

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 23.—(UP)—Floored for a nine count in the second round, Art Lasky, Minneapolis heavyweight, punched out of a 10-round decision over Tommy Candelaria of Florida in a main event bout here last night. The crowd booed Referee Fred Battaro's decision to the one-time heavyweight title contender.

About THIS and THAT In Many Sports

Three Fast Tossers

Spain, a guard; Weideman, a forward, and Miller, center, are the three big men on the Maysville cage team invading the local ballfield Friday evening in a Central Buckeye league contest—Jerry Kingsmore, veteran of many seasons, is the coach of the Union-co crew.

Might Gain Tie

A victory for either team may mean a tie for first place, while a defeat would just about eliminate either from a chance at the Central Buckeye league title—Each has been beaten and Delaware was the culprit both times—Coach Jack Landrum will probable use his regular starting lineup of Styers and Andrews at forwards, Melson at center, and Jenkins and Friley at guards—Melson lost a tooth in a collision against Grandview, but will be in there helping—He has started to hit the hoop and his presence will be a big help to the Red and Black chances—Don Henry, John Griffith, and Dick Plum will be hanging around the edges for a chance to break into the fray.

WOOSTER IS WINNER

WOOSTER, Jan. 23.—(UP)—Wooster college's swimming team defeated Ohio Wesleyan in a dual meet here yesterday 63 to 21. It was the second victory of the season for Wooster over Wesleyan. A week ago at Delaware the Scot team won 41 to 34.

to play havoc with several of the county games, booked for Friday evening, but this department at press-time today had not been notified of any cancellations except the Pickaway-Ashville game booked last night—it will probably be played next week.

Bearcats In Lead

Cincinnati university retained its lead in the Buckeye loop last night defeating Ohio U. at Athens, 34-29—Ohio Wesleyan turned back Marshall though the Huntington team led 19-15 at the half—The final score was 45-34.

McWilliams Has Title

Bill McWilliams, St. Paul infielder, has the year's most gorgeous title: "Manager of discipline" in a Chicago cocktail bar—in less dignified places he'd be a place "bouncer."

Growth Not Arthritis

Bronko Nagurski, former Minnesota grider now starring with the Chicago Bears, had an operation for removal of a bone growth on his left hip—His medicos insisted it was arthritis.

CANZONERI KNOCKS OUT MEXICAN CHALLENGER

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—(UP)—Tony Canzoneri, lightweight champion, today boasted a technical knockout over Brescia Garcia of Mexico in the first of a series of tune-up bouts preparatory to defending his title or taking a shot at Barney Ross' welterweight crown.

Canzoneri floored the Mexican three times before Referee Billy Cavanaugh halted the bout after 1:39 of the ninth round. He dropped Garcia with a right hook for a count of seven in the seventh round. Two more trips to canvas followed for the Mexican in the eighth, the first for a count of nine and the second for a count of six, the bell saving him. Canzoneri weighed 138, Garcia, 137.

Before the seventh round Garcia fought on even terms with the champion, who was making his first start since he defended his crown against Al Roth, New York, in October. The Mexican won the second, fourth and sixth rounds.

BUCKEYES TRAVEL EAST FOR TWO-GAME SERIES

COLUMBUS, Jan. 23.—(UP)—Ohio State's basketball team was to leave tonight for Philadelphia where it will meet the University of Pennsylvania Saturday in the first contest of a two game road trip.

Monday night the Bucks will play a return game at Washington with George Washington university.

Coach Harold Olsen planned to take 10 or 12 players on the trip. The traveling squad was to be selected after the concluding practice today.

Pennsylvania won the Eastern second straight time last year when it defeated Columbia in a play-off game for the title. Only one man of the championship quintet is back this season.

Ohio defeated George Washington 36 to 27 in the opening game of the season here.

OHIO U. FALLS BEFORE ATTACK OF BEARCATS

COLUMBUS, Jan. 23.—(UP)—Another challenger of the University of Cincinnati's surprise basketball team had been beaten back today and the Bearcats had shown definitely they were not an early season flash, but the team that must be beaten for the Buckeye conference championship.

Cincinnati gained its fourth consecutive league victory last night at Athens when it turned back Ohio University 34 to 29.

The defeat of the Bobcats virtually eliminated them from the championship race and left title fight a two-way battle between Cincinnati and Ohio Wesleyan.

Wesleyan remained in the thick of the battle for the crown when it defeated Marshall 45 to 34 last night at Delaware by virtue of a strong second half rally.

The first half of the Cincinnati-Ohio game was strictly a defensive battle. At the intermission the Bearcats held a slender 12 to 11 lead.

A SIX-CARD PROBLEM

MR. H. PENNINGTON RICE, many years treasurer of the Knickerbocker Whist club, is very well known to card players about New York City. Recently he handed me the following card problem hand, which he stated was originated some time ago, by C. S. Lochridge. Try to solve it. Such problems are splendid drill in learning the various end plays which so frequently must be employed in both rubber games and duplicate, without benefit of double-dummy knowledge.

Spades were trumps. North is in the lead. North and South are to win all six tricks against the best defense.

To puzzle solvers it will be evident that the clean sweep of tricks can be accomplished only through a double squeeze.

Lead the K of spades. Overtake with the Ace. Discard East's lowest diamond and West's lowest heart.

Lead the Q of spades. West can discard his club. Have North discard the Q of diamonds. There cannot be a squeeze unless North and South hold different cards. East lets go his third highest diamond. As yet neither East nor West feel the pending squeeze. Apply pressure. Lead the club. First try having West protect hearts and East care for diamonds. Have West let go a diamond and East let go his lowest heart. North comes into the lead. Lead dummy's lowest heart. East's Ace of hearts falls. South ruffs. He puts North in lead with the Ace of diamonds and wins the sixth trick with the good K of hearts. Evidently East will give North and South the six tricks, if he lets go the low heart.

Try the defense over. The first three tricks will be won, as before, with the Ace and Q of spades and the 4 of clubs. Have East keep two hearts and West hold two diamonds. North now will lead the K of hearts, dropping West's J. If East refuses to put up the Ace of hearts the problem is solved. Have East put up the Ace of hearts. South will trump. North will be put in lead with the Ace of diamonds and the 9 of hearts will win the last trick.

The last defense will be to allow both West and East to keep two hearts, and to strip down to a single diamond, as North has done. Then at the fourth trick the Ace of diamonds will be led. South will ruff a heart. South's long diamond will win the sixth trick. Six tricks can be made against any defense.

SIX STORES SELECTED TO DISTRIBUTE COMMODITIES

RURAL AGENCIES TO HANDLE FOOD FOR COUNTIANS

Clothing, Mattresses, Foods
Expected to Arrive in Short Time

Six township "stores" for the distribution of surplus commodities have been established this week by the County Centralized Relief agency, D. H. Marcy, supervisor, announced Thursday.

The distribution points established in five townships are: Perry-twp, Griffey's store, New Holland; Deer Creek-twp, Hughes' store, Williamsport; Harrison-twp, Cain's store, Ashville; Salt Creek-twp, Simon Hamilton's store in Whisler, and Jones' store in Tarleton, and in Jackson-twp, Ross Hamilton's store.

Distribution to townships relief clients will be made on Friday mornings, Mr. Marcy announced. City clients will be given supplies on Saturday mornings at the local warehouse in the Goldfrederick building, Pickaway and Mound-sts.

Approximately 250 cases have been investigated so far by the agency. The only commodities received during the last two weeks has been canned meat and milk but shipments of clothing and mattresses and various other foods are expected in the near future.

YOUTH SENT TO STATE'S SCHOOL

Edgar Byrd, 16, Tells Judge of
"Dizzy" Spells

Edgar Byrd, 16, negro, of W. Mill-st, who confessed two recent "purse-snatchings" was sentenced to the Boys' Industrial school, Lancaster, by Judge C. C. Young in juvenile court Wednesday afternoon.

A confession was obtained from the youth Monday afternoon after he had been questioned six hours by city and county authorities. He admitted snatching purses from Miss Elizabeth Drum and Mrs. H. G. Stevenson. Mrs. Stevenson's purse, containing important keys, was found between two sheds at the rear of a W. Mill-st grocery. About $6 in money had been taken. Officers have been informed where Miss Drum's purse was thrown but have been unable to find it because of the heavy snow. The purse contained about $30.

The youth, special education school pupil and an amateur boxer, told the judge he suffered dizzy spells and believed them caused by a bump on the head suffered last summer while diving. Judge Young informed the youth he would ask the institution to give him proper medical treatment.

More Jobs, Fewer Convicts

SAN QUENTIN Cal.—Improved business conditions are frankly credited by officials of San Quentin prison for a marked decrease in 1935 of the prison's population. The increased possibility of jobs for paroled inmates made it possible to release 1,215 during the year as against 1,096 in 1934.

ISLE PRISONERS AGAIN AT WORK

Backbone of Strike Broken as 50 Men Give in

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 23—(UP)—Mutineering convicts of Alcatraz island federal penitentiary, listing among their number mob rulers of the prohibition and kidnap eras, capitulated slowly today to a bread and water diet and the prison's rigid, inflexible regulations.

Of the 100 prisoners who participated in the passive, bloodless revolt Monday, Tuesday and yesterday, 25 were said to have signified willingness to resume their prison duties today after experiencing the effects of Warden James A. Johnston's "work or starve" decree.

In return for their capitulation, reports said, they were placed once more on normal prison fare.

The revolt began Monday among 80 prisoners who quit work in the laundry, demanding relaxation of prison rules and additional privileges.

When their demands were refused, the convicts howled and shrieked their defiance and were locked up in their own small cells or in solitary confinement cells blocks. Twenty more inmates joined the passive resistance campaign Tuesday and matters apparently remained stalemated yesterday, pitting the stubborn, sullen convicts against the unyielding prison administration.

It is a case of me or the convicts running the prison," Warden Johnston said. "They'll find out I'm still in charge."

In announcing the backbone of the strike was broken, the Warden said the remaining 75 demonstrators still were confined in individual cells and restricted to bread and water rations.

DAVEY TO TELL ROOSEVELT OHIO LEADERS UNITED

Governor Leads Delegation to Capital to Assure Assistance in State

30 DELEGATION MEMBERS

Purpose of Trip is to Pledge Aid; Farley to Be Visited By Group

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—(UP)—Gov. Martin L. Davey and a group of Ohio Democrats came to the capital today to assure the Democratic high command that the party is "united" in Ohio and ready to "go down the line for the administration."

Davey planned to confer with both President Roosevelt and Postmaster General James A. Farley. The delegation planned a luncheon with the Ohio congressional delegation.

Not Davey's Parties

"This isn't my party, you know," the Governor said. "I'm just sort of trailing along. The main purpose of the visit is to assure Democratic leaders here that the party is united in Ohio and will support the entire Democratic ticket."

Accompanying the governor were Francis Poulson, Ohio Democratic campaign manager, and more than 30 other state Democratic leaders.

To Hear Olson, Too

In addition to the Ohio political discussions, Mr. Roosevelt's schedule showed a conference with Culbert Olson, Democratic state chairman in California and leader of the Upton Sinclair "Epic" faction.

ITALIAN, SOVIET LEADERS CLASH

Litvinov, Aloisi Argue in League Council Session

GENEVA, Jan. 23.—(UP)—A sharp clash between Italy and Soviet Russia marked a meeting of the council of the League of Nations today. Maxin Litvinov, Soviet Foreign commissar, in an attack on Uruguay for breaking diplomatic relations with Russia, said Uruguay, like Japan, Germany and Italy, is trying to exploit anti-communist prejudice. Of Italy he remarked that a country which recently committed an act of aggression is trying to stir up anti-soviet prejudice through its press.

Baron Pompeo Aloisi of Italy expressed deep resentment.

"Italy," he said, "does not need to find an excuse for its own action which it had the courage to undertake openly and for highly important reasons of civilization and security."

"It is not by words thrown into a debate absolutely remote from the Ethiopian question that it may be possible to define the attitude of my government in these grave problems connected with its rights and security."

BANKING COMPANY SUES ON $10,000 MORTGAGE

A suit for $10,000 on a note with interest and foreclosure of a mortgage on about 194 acres of land was filed in common pleas court Thursday by the Ashville Banking Co., against Harry B. Carpenter, Scioto-twp., and others. Mr. Carpenter was also named defendant in an action for foreclosure of a chattel mortgage given on a wheat crop given to secure payment of the note. Attorneys Leist & Leist represent the plaintiff.

Harold Pontius, 30, of Ashville, suffered severe head injuries in Columbus Wednesday night when his automobile struck a utility pole at Seventh-ave and Sixth-st. He was blinded by a cloud of winddriven snow.

His condition was reported good Thursday by attaches of White Cross hospital, where he is receiving treatment.

Four county highway workers were weather victims Wednesday afternoon and evening. Ralph Wood, of the surveyor's office suffered two frozen fingers and nipped ears Wednesday night while working on the Kingston-pk.

Sam Schleich, Williamsport, and Sam Raub, Circleville, suffered frost bitten feet, James Stonerock, city, a frozen finger.

Cadet No Longer

Disclosures of a secret wedding three years ago by his "disappointed-in-love" bride, forced the resignation of Richard T. Schrein of Crete, Neb., from the U. S. Military academy at West Point, N. Y., where no cadet is permitted to marry. Schrein's wife, Mrs. Lucille Taylor Schrein, revealed the nuptial secret to academy authorities when Schrein found a new love and refused to listen to wife's warning that "he would have to give up his commission or her." Schrein was one of the 12 making students in this year's graduation class.

PRESIDENT ASKS MONEY TO CLOSE AAA CONTRACTS

Appropriation of 300 Millions Asked of House Committee By Executive

"OBLIGATION" IS CITED

Action Sought on New Soil Conservation-Allotment Program

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—(UP)—President Roosevelt today asked a $296,185,000 supplemental appropriation of the house appropriations committee to carry out rental and benefit payments on farm contracts under the old AAA program.

The supplemental appropriation will be used to carry out what the administration considers to be its "moral obligations" to complete contracts made with farmers before outlawing of the AAA. It brings the estimated cost of the administration's substitute farm program to $736,185,000 as $440,000,000 is being asked to pay benefits the proposed new farm plan.

Press for Action

The request was laid before the committee while congressional leaders pressed for early action on the administration's new soil conservation-domestic allotment, farm plan to replace the invalidated AAA. The new plan, which has encountered some undercurrent opposition, would give the secretary of agriculture broad powers to pay benefits to farmers cooperating in the program, although no contracts could be made.

Mr. Roosevelt submitted his supplemental estimate with an accompanying statement from Acting Budget Director Daniel W. Bell explaining that the money was to be spent only for adjustment contracts prior to Jan. 6, when the Supreme court destroyed the AAA. The administration has considered these payments to farmers as a "moral" obligation.

Of the $296,000,000 requested by President Roosevelt, it was shown that $60,000,000 was to pay contracts entered into for the 1936 winter wheat program.

The request also included $6,000,000 for general administrative expenses; $1,310,000 for removal of surplus; $12,935,000 for commodity program administrative expenses.

AIMEE'S MOTHER ASKS DIVORCE FROM HUDSON

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 23.—(UP)—Aimee Semple McPherson's mother, Mrs. Minnie (Ma) Kennedy Hudson, today had on file a suite for divorce against Guy Edward (Whattaman) Hudson with whom she figured in much marital litigation several years ago.

Mrs. Kennedy charged that Hudson deserted her. They were married in Longview, Wash., and again at Las Vegas, Nev., in 1931, when the first ceremony was questioned on a technicality.

Teachers Lead Children in Games to Prevent Panic While Awaiting Rescuers; Efforts Made to Open Roads Before Fuel Supply Gives Out Tonight; U. S. Toll High

LENEVA, Ind., Jan. 23.—(UP)—Two hundred children and seven teachers, prisoners in a little three room country school house, fought off cold and hunger today as they waited for rescuers to fight their way through mountainous drifts of snow.

Their fuel supply was barely enough to last another day. Isolated by a blizzard which blocked all roads with drifts, the children and their small corps of teachers had remained huddled around wood stoves since yesterday morning.

Food carried through the drifts by William Anderson, a farmer living near the school, was rationed among the children by the teachers.

Telephones Lines Down

Telephone lines were down, and the only means of communication was through the Anderson farm. The teachers, under Russell Steinger, principal, organized the children in games to pass away the time and to prevent a panic from spreading among the frightened, hungry children.

Domestic science pupils stirred up batches of cookies and prepared meager meals for their younger classmates.

Anderson said efforts were being made to open the roads in time to remove the children before their fuel gave out tonight.

Arctic blasts from the Canadian northwest swept a paralyzing cold wave across middle America Thursday. The bitter cold moved east after forcing the temperature to record lows in the middle west.

Only slight relief was forecast for central states late Thursday. A snowstorm with rising temperatures was predicted for Friday.

A piercing wind piled great drifts of snow on Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Kentucky roads, blocking motor traffic on most main highways.

The death toll as the result of the rawest cold wave since the turn of the century totaled more than a score. Four died in fires. Hundreds suffered frozen ears, hands and feet.

55 Below in Northwest

The 55 below zero reading at International Falls, Minn., Wednesday was not expected to be exceeded anywhere on the continent today but temperatures far below zero were common. At Minneapolis an all-time record low of 33.5 degrees below was recorded.

Sorrow, Joy In Frigid Weather

ST. JOSEPH, Mich., Jan. 23.—(UP)—A German shepherd dog was credited today with saving the life of Betty Jane Mason, three years old, when she became trapped in her smoke-filled home.

Betty's mother, frantic and nearly overcome by smoke while rescuing 18-months old Ceola, Betty's younger sister, was making an attempt to enter the burning house when the dog pulled Betty into the open. The pet was leading the little girl by one arm.

Do you like to swim in this kind of weather? The Hi-Y club of the local school does, and intends to this evening. But—the scene will be the heated Y. M. C. A. pool in Columbus.

LATE KING LIES IN WESTMINSTER

Body Taken from Castle to Await Burial Rite

LONDON, Jan. 23.—(UP)—King George's sorrowing family turned his body over today to the people whom he ruled and served, to lie in state in historic Westminster hall until its burial at Windsor Tuesday.

It was brought to London in a 10-coach funeral train after a 15-minute funeral service at St. Mary Magdalene church at Sandringham.

The body, on a gun carriage, was borne along 2 1/4 miles of winding country road, heavy with frost, to Wolferton station, King Edward VIII and other males of the family walking behind it, Queen Mary and the women in carriage.

Queen Mary cried poignantly as she watched the body of her husband into a black painted funeral coach. As drums of the band of the Norfolk territorial regiment gave a final muffled roll, the train left for London and another procession through the streets to Westminster hall.

Since night before last the late king's body has lain as might that of any man of position in simple semi-state in the church at Sandringham, where he died Monday night.

LAND TITLE QUESTION TAKEN TO ADKINS COURT

Temporary injunction against the restitution of a parcel of real estate at Water-st and Western-ave to Stanley and Hazel Peters under a judgment obtained in H. O. Eveland's justice of peace court, was granted the county commissioners by Judge Joseph W. Adkins in common pleas court Wednesday afternoon.

County Prosecutor Ray Davis, who filed the action for the commissioners, stated there has been a question of title involved in the real estate for some time. The commissioners were involved through a resident of the county home, now dead, deeding his property to the county. Both parties in the suit contend they own the property. The injunction will bring the case to a final hearing in common pleas court, the prosecutor stated, and quiet the title.

Oscar Woerber, constable, was named a defendant in the case. A writ of restitution had been issued by Mr. Eveland.

MCCORMICK, KIN OF NOTED FAMILY, TAKES OWN LIFE

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 23.—(UP)—Walter Brooks McCormick, 55, retired business man and relative of the prominent McCormick family of Chicago, committed suicide last night in his exclusive west side apartment. McCormick was found lying on his bed, clad in pajamas, by Eliza Robertson, his nurse, when she returned from a shopping tour of neighborhood stores. A .38 caliber revolver with one chamber discharged was lying by his side.

MERCURY FALLS TO -16 IN CITY; STATE SUFFERS

All County Schools Remain Closed as Drifts Block Highways

MAIL BY BUS DELAYED

Alexander Says Temperature May Climb Friday; to Be Low Tonight

The record-breaking cold wave that sent the thermometer down to 16 degrees below zero Thursday morning, continued its paralyzing grip on Pickaway-co.

Schools were closed, snowdrifts were blocking mail routes, and practically all meetings and social affairs were cancelled. All outdoor WPA projects were suspended Wednesday afternoon, and few residents ventured from their homes.

Up Slightly at Noon

The official temperature at a. m. was 16 degrees below zero. Dr. H. R. Clarke reported many sections of the county roads reported readings as low as 20 degrees below zero. At 11 a. m. the mercury rested at 18 degrees below.

W. H. Alexander, state meteorologist, Columbus, forecast for tonight was "continued cold." He predicted temperatures would not fall so low as they did Wednesday night, but he warned all sections to expect temperatures of between five and 10 degrees below zero.

Among Lowest in Years

The 16 below zero reading was one of the lowest readings in the 66-year history of the Ohio weather department. Dr. H. R. Clarke reported Pickaway-co has had no such temperature since the winter of 1917-18 but he was unable to give dates from his records.

All county schools were closed Thursday and officials doubted an attempt would be made to open them Friday. Practically all pupils were sent home Wednesday noon to eliminate the danger of having buses marooned in the blizzard. The Ashville school remained open Wednesday but was closed Thursday morning because of frozen pipes in the building and drifted roads. Few school buses were able to cover their entire routes Wednesday.

Classes were conducted in Circleville schools, but the attendance was only about 40 per cent of normal, Frank Fischer, superintendent, reported. In the high school, 123 pupils were listed "not present." Janitors of all the buildings worked through the night to keep fires up. All buildings were reported comfortable.

At least one Scioto Valley bus was blocked by drifts Thursday morning. The bus leaving Circleville at 6:59 for Chillicothe via Kingston was unable to penetrate drifts on the Kingston-rd. Only the driver and one passenger, a man endeavoring to reach Jackson, O., were on the bus. It returned to the local station, then went back to Columbus. The passenger waited for the 9:38 a. m. bus to Chillicothe.

Pulled from Drift
A gasoline truck and four automobiles were pulled from a snowdrift Wednesday night on the Kingston-pk near the home of Frank Duval. County workers reported the drift was about three feet deep on one side of the road and covered about 500 feet of the highway.

A drift about 1,000 feet long was reported on the Goose Run-pk. County road employees working on the drift Wednesday afternoon were unable to get a truck out of the drift and had to walk back to Circleville.

OHIO DEADLOCK OVER QUESTIONS IS NEARING END

Senate Back in Session as House Prepares to Vote Financial Bill

COLUMBUS, Jan. 23—(UP)—The special session of the Ohio legislature, which started Sept. 13, was believed by leaders to be heading toward early adjournment today.

There were strong indications that the deadlock between the senate and house over poor relief financing would be broken today, and that a new appropriations bill calling for $90,413,000 would be passed by the house.

Senate in Session The senate returned to work for the first time in two weeks, to complete passage of the relief and budget measures, and to clear the state of other unfinished business.

Wrangling over the poor relief issue was climaxed yesterday by a heated argument on the floor of the house between Democratic Speaker J. Freer Bittinger and Republican Leader William M. McCulloch. Each accused the other of falsehood.

The argument started because the house conferees on poor relief allegedly had not been given "a free hand" to compromise the differences between the house and senate. McCulloch charged the Republican members had been "double crossed" by the Democratic leadership.

"You're a damn liar," Bittinger replied to the accusation. "And you're a damn liar and I can prove it by six witnesses," McCulloch quickly answered.

McCulloch asserted Bittinger had attempted to dictate what the house conferees should insist upon in the relief bill.

Walk Out Threatened Angered, McCulloch returned to his seat and sought recognition to make a motion, presumably to propose reconsideration of the house vote rejecting senate amendments to the relief bill. Ignored by the speaker, the Republican leader hastily conferred with several colleagues.

Then an ultimatum was served on Bittinger that the Republicans were on the verge of walking out, which would tie up the session, unless the speaker agreed to cooperate in breaking the deadlock on relief.

The Democratic leadership immediately called for a recess and a conference of leaders of both sides was held. The result was an agreement to let relief conferees work without interference.

Although poor relief and the budget are the major measures to be disposed of, a sundries claim bill calling for $748,470 also is pending. The bill was introduced yesterday in the house.

Without an opposing vote the house late yesterday passed the Ross bill, designed to make available immediately money with which to pay old age pensioners. The pension fund was exhausted last week.

The bill, which still has to pass the senate, authorizes the state finance director to borrow from the general revenue fund money needed to pay the pensions, pending collection of liquor profits and liquor gallonage tax revenues.

After reconsidering the vote by which it was defeated Tuesday, the house also passed the Ward bill to provide for an annual examination of real estate tax exemptions as a means of restoring to the tax duplicate property that is illegally exempted.

Rep. P. E. Ward told the house approximately one-eighth of Ohio real estate is on the exempted list. His measure now goes to the senate.

Other measure passed in the house included the Schiesler bill designed to prohibit the sale of trademarked and nationally advertised commodities at cut rate prices, and the Kilpatrick bill to transfer the state fire marshal's division from the commerce to the industrial relations department. Both measures go to the senate.

The governor of New Jersey, it is now reported, will favor the Townsend Plan if its beneficiaries are to include all baby-killers.

All public schools in Chicago and in many other midwest cities were closed Thursday. Rural schools in some areas were closed for the rest of the week.

Snowdrifts 16 feet deep were piled against a bus containing 45 children near St. Clairsville, O., 10 miles west of Wheeling, W. Va. The children were taken across fields in sleighs to their homes or to nearby farmhouses.

Another bus stranded in Belmont, Ohio, was located by farmers and the children transferred to sleighs. A third bus skidded into a huge drift near Richville, Ky. Pupils were rescued by motorists.

Automobiles Marooned More than 500 cars were marooned on United States highway 27 near Nicholasville, Ky., last night. Police and deputies brought many of the motorists into Lexington. Scores of other cars were stalled on the Harrodsburg and Paris pikes with the temperature at 13 below zero.

An overheated oil stove started a blaze in a third floor flat on Chicago's near west side early today. A negro father and two of his nine children were burned to death. Six of the children jumped into firemen's nets. Another was injured critically when he jumped from a third floor window to the ground.

At Paris, Ill., one fireman was killed and two injured severely while fighting a blaze in 14 below zero weather in a two-story brick business building late Wednesday night. The three were on a ladder when a wall collapsed, burying them under the debris.

Twenty children marooned by

heavy drifts in a country school northwest of Chicago were rescued by state highway police. The heating plant in the school failed to function.

Huge Area Struck The extreme cold struck suddenly early Wednesday in the northwest and moved swiftly across the continent. The area in the frigid zone included most of the territory from the eastern part of Montana, south along the Rocky Mountains to northern Oklahoma and north east through the middle west to the Alleghenies.

While Midamerica froze, temperatures in Alaska were surprisingly high. Juneau reported 36 above zero and Calgary, Alberta had a reading of 2 above. The cold wave did not strike the far west nor Denver where the mercury stood at 2 above Thursday.

Chicago firemen raced over icy streets to 53 fires within six and one-half hours in bitter cold weather Wednesday. Overtaxed heating plants were blamed for most of the blazes.

More than 3,000 homeless persons were taken into Chicago relief shelters during the night. Police stations were crowded with other transients seeking shelter.

Chicago hotels, already crowded with convention visitors, were taxed to capacity when hundreds of office workers decided not to return to their outlying homes during the severe cold.

Railroad trains in the northwest were hours behind schedule. Trains leaving Chicago for that territory were equipped with extra locomotives. Near Centerville, Ill., a southern railway passenger train crashed into a freight on a trestle. The passenger train engineer, who said he was blinded by the snow, suffered a broken leg.

One cheerful report occasioned by the bitter cold came from trapped near East Ringgold and had to be pulled out with a team.

Government mail carriers were unable to cover their entire routes Thursday. Mail on buses was arriving late and a bus due from Athens Wednesday evening had not been heard from Thursday morning.

Train service was not affected by the weather.

Meeting Postponed

Numerous meetings scheduled in the city and county have been postponed because of the weather and the dangerous condition of the roads.

Howard Sweetman, county surveyor, warned autoists not to attempt to drive over the county and township roads. "The safest policy is to stay off of the roads," he said. He explained it was practically impossible for his workers to clear some of the drifts.

Places cleared Wednesday were filled with snow again Thursday morning. Numerous men in his department suffered frozen fingers and ears while working Wednesday. Some of the drifts cannot be moved with road scrapers, he reported, and the drifts will have to be shoveled away before the highways can be used for traffic.

"On Tuesday evening we had the 290 miles of county roads in this county cleared," Mr. Sweetman said, "and now they are in worst condition than they had been before we started."

Employees of the state highway garage worked until midnight Wednesday plowing and shoveling snowdrifts and then spent the remainder of the night in the garage ready to answer emergency calls.

The department reported all main highways open at noon with the exception of Route 56 near Leisville. Workers hoped to have a huge drift at that point removed during the afternoon.

George Bayne, employe of the surveyor's office, started for his home in Lancaster Wednesday evening and could drive no further than Amanda, where he spent the night. He reported two cars had been abandoned along Route 22 and about two miles west of the Pickaway-co line a bus was lodged in the center of Route 22. Snow had been shoveled out around the bus for autos to get through.

Local garages received more calls for help from distressed autoists Thursday morning than they were able to handle. The majority of the calls were to start autos with batteries paralyzed by the cold.

The cold wave was held responsible for at least one death in the state. William Forgrave 66, Columbus, died on a downtown street from a heart attack. Harriett Carder, 75, McConellsville, was near death at Zanesville from burns received when her clothing caught fire as she stood in front of an open fireplace.

The state highway department at Columbus reported numerous roads impassable. Officials said the high winds swept snow back as fast as it was removed from heavy drifts.

Two Counties Isolated

Cambridge and Guernsey-co were almost isolated except for Route 40 on the National highway which was still open. Other roads reported closed included highways in Coshocton Fairfield, Knox, Licking, Muskingum and Perry counties.

The two-inch snow that accompanied the blizzard brought the average snowfall in the state for the current winter to 23 inches. It is the greatest seasonal fall for the state since the severe winter of 1917-1918 when 41 inches of snow fell from early December to Jan. 31.

The suddenness with which the cold wave struck accentuated the discomfort it caused. Within sixteen hours the temperature took a drop of 48 degrees.

The Columbus weather bureau reported the cold wave as the worst experienced in 36 years. The all-time average low for the state was 20 degrees below zero first touched Jan. 3, 1879 and then reached again on Feb. 10, 1899.

Spend Night in Rooms

It was estimated that approximately 500 children in various parts of the state spent the night at their class-room desks or were carried to nearby farm houses by their teachers and volunteer rescuers.

Schools in which students were trapped by the storm included

gloves. The robber's hands were so cold. He fumbled only long enough to get $4 of Lanis' $24.

COLUMBUS, Jan. 23—(UP)—Snow covered fields in Ohio today threatened to wipe out quail and small game unless farmers provide food for them, Lawrence Woodell, state conservation commissioner said. Game wardens in the Stauton Centralized school near Troy; the Gilboa school near Findlay and the Urbana Township school in Champaign-co.

Buses that carried children were caught in drifts at St. Clairsville, Genoa, Ada, Westerville, Terre Haute and Newark. All children were carried to safety and cared for in farm homes.

The extreme conditions brought forth extra calls on relief authorities in meeting the demand for coal of relief clients was reported at Zanesville.

At North Baltimore a fire broke out in the main business district and caused damage estimated at $3000. Fire hydrants were frozen and the blaze had to be fought entirely with chemicals.

Borah says he will elaborate upon his reaction to the Townsend Plan at "the proper time." We can hardly wait.

The occupants of the house were driven from their quarters into the zero weather late last night when one resident attempted to thaw a frozen water pipe with a torch and set fire to the building. Firemen extinguished the blaze with little damage.

METHODIST UNION

AFTER agitation covering most of the seventy years since the close of the Civil war, the three great Methodist groups in the United States are to vote on a formal plan of merger. If it is accomplished and the Methodist Episcopal Church, the Methodist Episcopal Church South and the Methodist Protestant church become one, the newly constituted Methodist Church will have a communicant enrollment in excess of 7,200,000.

Statistics reveal that there are slightly more Baptist communicants than Methodists in the United States. They are not, however, united and the new Methodist Church would be numerically second in the country.

General conferences of the three Methodist organizations will vote on the merger plan and, if they ratify it, the plan will in turn be submitted to the regional conferences. Two general conferences will meet next May, but that of the Methodist Episcopal Church South will not be held until 1938. At least five or six years would be required to complete the merger, but there are differences that make it impossible to be certain of the outcome.

Though their disciples and procedure vary to some degree, there is no essential difference in faith among the three Methodist groups, which had a common rigin.
The breach between Methodists North and South grew out of the issues that brought on the Civil war.

Ethiopia never really knew off she was with a war on her hands until Messrs.
Hoare and Laval revealed their plan for peace.

Have all the anti-tobaccoists — who were going to have the weed outlawed by an amendment or something—joined the Townsend Plan?

The days of necromancy are over, says one who has never observed the deft way in which Mr. Farley transforms a postoffice deficit into a surplus.

WORLD AT A GLANCE

Ohio is a doubtful state and, for once, has no favorite son. This the Republicans chose Cleveland, metropolis of Ohio, for their 1936
national convention.

The convention, beginning on June 9, will be favored undoubtedly by characteristically "perfect" spring weather along the beautiful southern shores of Lake Erie. But there is no certainty that the political atmosphere will be so congenial.

Republicans have been speaking of Cleveland as a major city that recently elected a Republican mayor by the largest majority a Cleveland mayor ever received.
That must be taken with a grain of salt. Cleveland mayoralty elections are supposedly non-partisan.
In the preliminary election Harold Burton, running as a reform candidate, defeated Mayor Harry Davis, Old Guard Republican. But the runner-up was former Mayor Ray T. Miller, Old Guard Democrat. Thus Burton had a run-off with Miller. And the voters had no difficulty deciding. Thus Burton ran and won as a non-partisan reform candidate.

WHAT IS POLITICS?

What, then, is the political complexion of Cleveland, metropolis of this fourth most populous state?

Nobody knows. Cleveland is independent. It was the largest city to go for La Follette for president, when the elder La Follette ran as a progressive. It went for Al Smith in the Hoover landslide.

And now? To this observer it seems to be strongly for Roosevelt. Tens of thousands of organized workers outnumber Republican business men.

That all depends on Mr.

Roosevelt. The city, in reality, is for Dr. Townsend. And you know what that means.

OHIO?

How will the state go?
This writer has had an observer going through Ohio to obtain sentiment on various subjects discussed in this column.

No one knows how the state will go. That depends largely on three things: (1) Taxes; (2) What President Roosevelt will do in a forward movement now; (3) What sort of a candidate the Republicans will select.

The state as a whole will not care a whoop that the Republicans are nominating a man in Cleveland. In fact, the state has a suspicion of the Union club of Cleveland. That a Republican stronghold is dominated by "upstate millionaires." (The writer questions that there are many millionaires in Ohio. Wealth is fairly well distributed till one gets to the lower stratum—which is as miserable here as elsewhere.)

Ohio has a Democratic government, both senators are Democratic, and three of the four congressmen living in Cleveland are Democratic.

It has 18 Democratic representatives and six Republican.

BEST CHANCES

The guess is that Governor Alf
M. Landon of Kansas will have the best chance in Cleveland.

The men who brought the convention to Cleveland may be classified as Landon and Hoover men. Ohio, itself, probably would favor Senator William E. Borah of Idaho.

The guess is, that at the opening of the convention in Cleveland those in the lead will be Landon, Hoover and Borah.

But it must not be forgotten that Arthur Vandenberg is a senator from the neighboring state of Michigan—and Michigan money always has seemed impressive to Ohio. Michigan is the largest purchaser of Ohio products, and the money forces back of the convention are largely the beneficiaries of those purchases.

Frank Knox, Chicago publisher seems unknown to the rank and file of the Republican party in Ohio.

DANGEROUS QUESTION

A dangerous question will be posed in Cleveland.

In no other large city except Los Angeles are the Townsends so strong. They plan to hold a national convention of their own in Cleveland—as do the Socialists, and the U. S. Congress Against War and Fascism. (Ohio will be the happy hunting ground in 1936.)

The Townsends will invade the Republican convention, and they are likely to play hob with it.

Their favorite candidate is Borah.

But they can't get even him to say "yes"—straight out—as a devotion of their creed.

Yet they believe they could tatives and six Republicans.

FIGHTING CONVENTION

Oh, the Cleveland convention will be a scrappy one, all right.

It will be a great show. The immense auditorium will accommodate 22,000 in its various mighty halls. Imagine the racket those 22,000 scrappers will make!

SUPREME COURT ATTACK ON LABOR

LAWS HEALING RIFT IN A. F. OF L.

WASHINGTON—The threatening shadow of the U. S. Supreme Court is causing wheels to turn in farm corners.

A few weeks ago, Old Guard craft-union leaders of the A. F. of L. were planning an uncompromising fight against insurgent industrial unionists. Preparations had gone so far that secret steps already were under way to expel the revolting chiefs.

With the prospect almost certain that the Supreme Court will junk the Wagner Labor Disputes Act and other labor measures, the A. F. of L. moguls are looking for no family fights. The ominous danger of losing the great legislative gains they have made in the last few years leaves them with no stomach for internal warring.

The Old Guard leaders realize the vital necessity of a united front, are making secret peace overtures to the industrial unionists.

President Bill Green has quietly opened negotiations with John L. Lewis, mine chief and leader of the insurgents, looking to a healing of the rift that has threatened to split the A. F. of L. wide open. As a peace gesture, Green has proposed that the industrial unionists have a free hand in organizing the auto, steel and rubber industries.

LARGE FAMILY

Colleagues who accompanied Jack Garner to the Far East are telling the following story on the Vice President of the United States:

In Shanghai the congressional party was invited to a banquet by the leading Chinese business man, a British subject who had been knighted by King George. Before they sat down to dinner, the American guests met his ten children.

The banquet was laid in an elaborate sunken garden. There were five tables.
Presiding over each was a charming Chinese woman—one of the wives of the host and also a mother of one or more of his children.

Most of the American visitors, including Mrs. Garner, had been told about their host's marital arrangements. But Jack had not.

As ranking guests he and Mrs. Garner sat at the table of their host, who was accompanied by his No. 1 wife. During the course of the dinner Jack complimented his hostess on her beautiful home. Then he added:

"I also want to congratulate you on your large family of fine children. In American, I am sorry to say, we no longer have large families. When I was a boy, however, I knew a number of mothers of ten children."

MURDER UPSTAIRS

by ADAM BLISS

CHAPTER 52

EVERYONE was at dinner except
Mrs. Starnum and Mr. Hemingway.
She had sent down word that she didn't care for even a tray, and Mr.
Hemingway said he wasn't hungry when I knocked at his door after he had disregarded the gong.

After dinner I cleared the dishes and helped Grace with the kitchen work. She asked when she was finished whether she could go up to Mrs. Starnum's room safely. I suggested a small tray, so she fixed that,
and went away.

I was still in the kitchen at 9 o'clock when Kirk Larabee came from headquarters via the back door.
He looked over my shoulder as I sat at the table writing my grocery list.

"Worried?" he asked, kindly.

"Yes," I was worried. I was frustrated with worry, with bewilderment, with that miserable conclusion
I had made in the phone booth this afternoon coming back and back at me like a buzzing fly.

"You know something," His agile brain again. "Dr. Rudeman told you something when you called him on the phone?"

He was wrong there. Dr. Rude-man hadn't told me anything I didn't know. The conclusion I had made in the booth was an old one, too, days old now.

"I'll know soon, Mrs. Penny." He was his old self again. All the coldness he had displayed in the sitting room was gone. Apparently I was forgiven for having secretly phoned Dr. Rudeman. "I have a warrant for the arrest of Hemingway in my pocket."

"For his arrest?"

"Yes. He finally told me some things this afternoon."

"Confessed?" My voice was only a whisper.

"No confession yet, but the information he gave me is strong enough to warrant his arrest for murder."

"Do you think he did it?"

"Throwing it in my lap again. I was silent. He could take that silence any way he chose. If Larabee wanted to suspect Martin Hemingway, wanted to arrest him, I had my own suspicions, too.

Larabee was in a confidential mood. "Let me tell you about Hemingway. I've been worried about the voice that answered Conrad Withers Tuesday morning from Darien's bedroom. The voice that told him to leave. It was a woman's voice, from the first, that it must belong to someone in this house. Perhaps Hemingway. Surely Hemingway. It was a man's voice unless Withers was lying. He wasn't lying. It was his voice."

"Strange, isn't it, that two men should enter Darien's room, discover he had been murdered, and not give an alarm?"

"Then Hemingway slipped Darien's closet door bolt, went out into the hall and to his own room, and bolted
the closet door from his side. So Tuesday morning two men in the house knew Darien was murdered, and neither of them gave an alarm.
Hemingway swears he didn't dare to, that he was afraid to do so."

"You think the murderer, Withers thought, the murderer. Withers probably thought the same thing, that is, if he's innocent."

His voice was very low. I had to bend forward to hear him.

"Hemingway also swears that he took that he had to do something.
He went into the room at 5 o'clock Tuesday morning, Darien already was dead."

a man's voice, and it was Hemingway. He told me this afternoon after I had questioned him for an hour.

"He was in the habit of going into Darien's room early in the morning."

"Sometimes they had their business conferences there before the house would awake. He entered the closet door, which was usually left open on Darien's side. Often, Hemingway awakened Darien. They worked together, as you probably know by this time, on Darien's blackmail schemes, consulted with each other constantly. Tuesday morning he really started Monday night."

Hemingway was angry. There had been no consultation about Janet Bell, and Hemingway had overheard a bit of conversation—not much—during Janet's visit to Darien's room.

"He wanted to know more about it, of course. Knowing his employer, for that's who Darien really was to him, was never in a good mood at night, he waited until morning, came in about 5, which was earlier than usual, but he couldn't wait any longer after a sleepless night. He found Darien dead."

"At that moment he was panic-stricken, so he says, then his head cleared. There might be some papers in the room. He looked for them, found them, and was still going through the desk when Withers knocked. In a moment he was in the closet, calling 'come in.' A mistake, that he had to do something.

He heard the door open and someone enter slowly. He told me he recognized Withers from the closet door which was not quite closed, saw his hesitancy, saw Withers leave softly without raising an alarm."

"Then Hemingway slipped Darien's closet door bolt, went out into the hall and to his own room, and bolted

everything in the room because when we looked there was nothing in Darien's desk, except unimportant correspondence that had no possible bearing on his murder."

"And Della?"

"He claims he had no idea he was Della's secret love. Claims, in fact, that he never went up to the fourth floor since he put his trunk away in the storeroom. He told me all this very convincingly. Never changed his story once, but that doesn't erase the fact that all night long the latch on Darien's closet door remained open between the two rooms, and that he had the opportunity to kill Darien."

"Did he hear anything during the night?"

"He did change his statement there. At first he said that he slept soundly all night long. Today he tells me he didn't sleep at all, that he spent most of the night sitting in a chair, smoking, and wondering why Janet Bell was important to Darien.
It seems he's fond of Janet, more so than he has been of any other girl he's known. He's been wanting to marry her ever since she came to live in the house. I judge that the other afternoon when he went to her room, he proposed again and when she refused him, he accused her of threatening to kill Darien. In his anger over her refusal he came to me, and told me about her threat. There are men like that, you know."

"You haven't told me what he heard Monday night—" I interjected.

"He heard nothing until Withers threw some gravel at your window.
Nothing. And he sticks by that story, too. The house was very quiet, he says."

"His room was in darkness but he couldn't see who was on the lawn.
His windows face east and Withers was in front, under your windows.
At first he contemplated going down and opening the door, then decided against it. He heard you on the stairs. You were puffing a little and sighing, he says. Then later, half an hour later, he heard you come up again, sighing. He was listening for you, he admits, standing near his door. I asked him if he heard Miss Cambridge with you, and he said no, he thought you were alone."

"After that?"

"The next thing he heard, aside from the little noises about the house, was when he was in Darien's room—Withers' knock. Now Hemingway was awake all night. He was on the second floor, and says he heard nothing except what I've told you. Withers was awake on the third floor, and said he heard nothing.
All night long. Another snag."

Marian Martin

PATTERN 9745
What better frock to begin the New Year with than this—a trim variation of the ever-popular shirt-maker? Practical for any number of daytime occasions, it's an all-around basic style that goes with any set of accessories you may already possess. There's a bristly, military air about it, imparted by those two over-the-shoulder pieces, and isn't the stand-up collar youthful and pert? Note the original manner of parting off contrasting buttons down the front, and the way an inverted back pleat gives extra fullness to the bodice. A finely checked woolen would make an exceptionally smart version, as would a light serge or a tie silk print.

Velveteen—with long sleeves, if it's a somewhat dressier frock you had in mind. Complete, Diagrammed Marian Martin Sew Chart included.

Pattern 9745 may be ordered only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30 and 32. Size 16 requires 2 1/2 yards 39 inch fabric.
Be sure to send for OUR NEW PATTERN BOOK and see how easily your Spring wardrobe can reflect the latest fashions! Dozens of smart models for every occasion—some sketched, some photographed. Lovely new fabrics and how to make best use of them. New costume accessories. Smart slendering styles. Clothes budget hints. Patterns for the whole family. PRICE OF BOOK FIFTEEN CENTS. BOOK AND A PATTERN TOGETHER, TWENTY-FIVE CENTS.
Send your order to The Herald, Pattern Department, 210 N. Court-st., Cincinnati, Ohio.

Have you ever noticed that the most comfortable chair in the room gets the hardest wear? Then that's the one to protect, as you can so easily with lovely filet crochet. A crochet hook, some string, and this exclusive Alice Brooks design are all one needs to turn out a lovely chair set. Butterflies and flowers form the design, and how effectively they contrast with the open stitch that surrounds them. So get busy! In pattern 5517 you will find a chart and complete instructions for making the set; illustrations of it and of all stitches used and material requirements.

ASHVILLE SCHOOL NEWS

With the aid of a microscope the pupils of the fifth grade examined the legs and wings of flies for dirt. We found a goodly supply on the small hairs of each part. On looking at drops of blood we saw the red corpuscles floating in plasma. We were astonished at the amount of corpuscles in one drop.

We also looked at vinegar, milk, coffee, ink, grape juice, and a piece of cloth.

We wrote on a piece of paper, then viewed it through the microscope. We saw that the solid line was composed of broken fragments with a silvery color.

We have divided our Arithmetic class into three groups A, B, and C.

Eighth Grade

The three pupils having the highest semester average in all subjects are Joan Tosca, Frank Hinkle, and Mary Wilkins.

"Perfect Spelling" pencils are given to those pupils who have no grades below 90 for six weeks. Margaret McNary and Mary Wilkins received pencils for the last six weeks.

The following fifth grade pupils have been neither absent nor tardy for the first semester: Ellis Cline, Aretha Gray, Frank Hinkle, Jimmy Morrison, Paul Pettibone, Celestia Tustin, Viola Ware, and Mary Wilkins. Late arrivals who haven't been absent since entering are Joan Tosca, Margaret McNary and Betty Lou Presler.

The fifth grade pupils are divided into seven groups. Each week a different group is in charge of the "Opening Exercises."

8th Grade—BF

1. Scholastic Attainments.

Thelma Ray has the highest semester average. Others with high averages are: Charlotte Courtwright, Charlotte Dunnick, Dorothy Hinkle, Florence Smith, and William Martin.

2. Attendance Records.

3. Highest scores in Semester Tests.

Ashville Junior Class

Ashville basketball fans were highly elated last Friday night over the two splendid games our teams played to down the New Holland boys and girls on their own court. The score of the girls game was 20 to 17 and the boys 28 to 22. New Holland followers didn't think their boys could possibly be defeated at home by Ashville with her star guard, Steinbrook, out of the lineup. So the blow was an especially shocking one to them, although the girls game was just as great a surprise.

The local P. T. A. enjoyed a very interesting and profitable meeting last Thursday night in spite of the severe weather. The state Chairman on membership, I. W. Basinger, told the members many things about the work of the organization which they didn't know before.

Mrs. C. A. Higley, delegate to the Akron state meeting last fall, gave a report on the work of the convention and the Third Grade pupils gave a fine little play on health.

The social committee served sandwiches and coffee

ORIENT

Mrs. Henry Stauch spent a few days with her daughter Mrs. Kessler.

Francis Hoover is attending the last quarter at O. S. U.

Mrs. Warren Whiteside is reported much better.

Dorothy Jean Crawford has entered Bliss College.

James Kessler was pleasantly surprised by a group of friends for his birthday Wednesday evening. Those present were Howe Davie, Frances Davie, Carl Gulick, Francis Hoover, Clara Hoover, Marvin Mason, Helen Hoover, William Thrallkill, Vernon Hoover, Kenneth Fuller, Helen Fuller, Vernis Burgett, Clara Bausch, Kathryn Hensel, Frederick Kuma, Mrs. Bausch, Willard Ruff, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bausch, Jim and Marguerite Kessler, Mrs. Henry Stauch and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Kuma and Mr. and Mrs. Kessler. A lunch was served of ice cream and cake all departed at a late hour, wishing Jim many more happy birthdays.

Mrs. Velma Burgett spent Saturday night with Mr. and Mrs. Roy Burgett and family and attended the basketball game at the fair grounds.

MANAGER CHARGES LOUIS "RUNNING OUT"

Feldman's Boss Claims Object of Trip to Honolulu is "Dodge"

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—(UP)—Joe Louis' Honolulu honeymoon is a "smoke screen" behind he is hiding to dodge Abe Feldman—at least that's Manager Hymie Caplin's version of the brown bomber's decision not to fight again until he meets Max Baer this summer.

Caplin, who is from the Joe (we was robbed) Jacobs' school of protestors, does not stop at accusing Louis of running out of a match with his fighter, but charges that Promoter Mike Jacobs is building up the brown bomber out of all proportion to his real fighting worth.

Rated Too Good
"I had no intention of mentioning my deductions about the build up they're putting over on Joe Louis until they deliberately ran out on a match with Feldman," Caplin said. "First, I gotta tell you I think Louis is a good fighter but I don't think he's so good he can knock out anybody any time he wants. He can call shots against those poor old has-beens they're feeding him but not against a young fighter who knows anything at all about the art of box fighting."

"Who do they give him?" Caplin asked. "Nobbody who is able to fight. Baer's hands were in no shape for him to be in the ring. Carnera hasn't been any good since Baer beat him up. Levin's been all washed up for some time. Retzlaff has the worst glass chin in the game. Poor old Paulino has been through for years. And now they're protecting him for another soft touch. Schmeling was knocked out by Baer two years ago. Hamas beat him badly in 1934 and Paulino held him to a draw the same year."

Promised Jan. 31
Caplin insists that back in December Jacobs promised Feldman a bout with Louis at Detroit Jan. 31, and told him not to take any other matches.

About THIS and THAT In Many Sports

Three Fast Tossers

Spain, a guard; Weideman, a forward, and Miller, center, are the three big men on the Mayaville cage team invading the local basketball Friday evening in a Central Buckeye league contest. Jerry Kingsmore, veteran of many seasons, is the coach of the Union-co crew.

Mighty Gain Tie

A victory for either team may mean a tie for first place, while a defeat would just about eliminate either from a chance at the Central Buckeye league title. Each has been beaten and Delaware was the culprit both times—Coach Jack Landrum will probably use his regular starting lineup of Styers and Andrews at forwards, Melson at center, and Jenkins and Friley at guards. Melson lost a tooth in a collision against Grandview, but will be in there helping. He has started to hit the hoop and his presence will be a big help to the Red and Black chances. Don Henry, John Griffith, and Dick Plum will be hanging around the edges for a chance to break into the fray.

One Game Postponed

The cold weather is threatening to play have with several of the county games, booked for Friday evening, but this department at press-time today had not been notified of any cancellations except the Pickaway-Ashville game booked last night. It will probably be played next week.

Bearcats In Lead

Cincinnati university retained its lead in the Buckeye loop last night defeating Ohio U. at Athens, 34-29—Ohio Wesleyan turned back Marshall though the Huntington team led 19-15 at the half. The final score was 45-34.

McWilliams Has Title

Bill McWilliams, St. Paul infielder, has the year's most gorgeous title: "Manager of discipline" in a Chicago cocktail bar. In less dignified places he'd be a place "houser."

Growth Not Arthritis

Bronko Nagurski, former Minnesota gridders now starring with the Chicago Bears, had an operation for removal of a bone growth on his left hip. His medics insisted it was arthritis.

BOWLING NEWS

Coca Colas and Chevrolets won their bowling matches this week from the Mykrantz Drugs and Circleville Oils, respectively. Each winner knocked off two-out-of-three games.

Chevrolets maintain their lead over the league with Coca Colas second, Mykrantz third, and Circleville Oils fourth. Individual scoring leaders are Warren Baker, Lou Vining, Red Riggan, and Charles Campbell.

WOOSTER IS WINNER

WOOSTER, Jan. 23.—(UP)—Wooster college's swimming team defeated Ohio Wesleyan in a dual meet here yesterday 63 to 21. It was the second victory of the season for Wooster over Wesleyan. A week ago at Delaware the Scot team won 41 to 34.

CANZONERI KNOCKS OUT MEXICAN CHALLENGER

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—(UP)—Tony Canzoneri, lightweight champion, today boasted a technical knockout over Brescio Garcia of Mexico in the first of a series of tune-up bouts preparatory to defending his title or taking a shot at Barney Ross' welterweight crown.

Canzoneri floored the Mexican three times before Referee Billy Cavanaugh halted the bout after 1:39 of the ninth round. He dropped Garcia with a right hook for a count of seven in the seventh round. Two more trips to canvas followed for the Mexican in the eighth, the first for a count of nine and the second for a count of six, the bell saving him. Canzoneri weighed 138, Garcia, 137.

Before the seventh round Garcia fought on even terms with the champion, who was making his first start since he defended his crown against Al Roth, New York, in October. The Mexican won the second, fourth and sixth rounds.

BUCKEYES TRAVEL EAST FOR TWO-GAME SERIES

COLUMBUS, Jan. 23.—(UP)—Ohio State's basketball team was to leave tonight for Philadelphia where it will meet the University of Pennsylvania Saturday in the first contest of a two game road trip.

Monday night the Bucks will play a return game at Washington with George Washington university. Coach Harold Olsen planned to take 10 or 12 players on the trip. The traveling squad was to be selected after the concluding practice today.

Pennsylvania won the Eastern second straight time last year when it defeated Columbia in a play-off game for the title. Only one man of the championship quintet is back this season.

Ohio defeated George Washington 36 to 27 in the opening game of the season here.

OHIO U. FALLS BEFORE ATTACK OF BEARCATS

COLUMBUS, Jan. 23.—(UP)—Another challenger of the University of Cincinnati's surprise basketball team had been beaten back today and the Bearcats had shown definitely they were not an early season flash, but the team that must be beaten for the Buckeye conference championship.

Cincinnati gained its fourth consecutive league victory last night at Athens when it turned back Ohio University 34 to 29.

The defeat of the Bobcats virtually eliminated them from the championship race and left little fight a two-way battle between Cincinnati and Ohio Wesleyan.

Wesleyan remained in the thick of the battle for the crown when it defeated Marshall 45 to 34 last night at Delaware by virtue of a strong second half rally.

The first half of the Cincinnati-Ohio game was strictly a defensive battle. At the intermission the Bearcats held a slender 12 to 11 lead.

A SIX-CARD PROBLEM

A SIX-CARD PROBLEM

MR. H. PENNINGTON RICE, many years treasurer of the Knickerbocker Club, is a very well known and successful player in New York City. Recently he handed me the following card problem hand, which he stated was originated some time ago, by C. S. Lochridge. Try to solve it. Such problems are splendid drill in learning the various end plays which frequently must be employed in both rubber games and duplicate, without benefit of double-dummy knowledge.

Lead the Q of spades. West can discard his club. Have North discard the Q of diamonds. There cannot be a squeeze unless North and South hold different cards. East lets go his third highest diamond. As yet neither East nor West feel the pending squeeze. Apply pressure. Lead the club. First try having West protect his diamonds. If that fails, have West let go a diamond and East let go his lowest heart. North comes into the lead. Lead dummy's lowest heart. East's Ace of hearts falls. South ruffs. He puts North Spades were trumps. North is in the lead. North and South are to win all six tricks against the best defense.

Lead the K of spades. Overtake with the Ace. Discard East's lowest diamond and West's lowest heart.

SIX STORES SELECTED TO DISTRIBUTE COMMODITIES

RURAL AGENCIES TO HANDLE FOOD FOR COUNTIANS

Clothing, Mattresses, Foods
Expected to Arrive in
Short Time

Six township "stores" for the distribution of surplus commodities have been established this week by the County Centralized Relief agency, D. H. Marcy, supervisor, announced Thursday. The distribution points established in five townships are: Perry-twp, Griffey's store, New Holland; Deer creek-twp, Hughes' store, Williamsport; Harrison-twp, Cain's store, Ashville; Salt creek-twp, Simon Hamilton's store in Whistler, and Jones' store in Tarlton, and in Jackson-twp, Ross Hamilton's store.

Distribution to townships relief clients will be made on Friday mornings, Mr. Marcy announced. City clients will be given supplies on Saturday mornings at the local warehouse in the Goldfrederick building, Pickaway and Mound-sts. Approximately 250 cases have been investigated so far by the agency. The only commodities received during the last two weeks has been canned meat and milk but shipments of clothing and mattresses and various other foods are expected in the near future.

YOUTH SENT TO STATE'S SCHOOL

Edgar Byrd, 16, Tells Judge of
"Dizzy" Spells

Edgar Byrd, 16, negro, of W. Mill-st., who confessed two recent "purse-snatchings" was sentenced to the Boys' Industrial school, Lancaster, by Judge C. C. Young in juvenile court Wednesday afternoon.

A confession was obtained from the youth Monday afternoon after he had been questioned six hours by city and county authorities. He admitted snatching purses from Miss Elizabeth Drum and Mrs. H. G. Stevenson. Mrs. Stevenson's purse, containing important keys, was found between two sheds at the rear of a W. Mill-st. grocery. About $6 in money had been taken. Officers have been informed where Miss Drum's purse was thrown but have been unable to find it because of the heavy snow. The purse contained about $30.

The youth, special education school pupil and an amateur boxer, told the judge he suffered dizzy spells and believed them caused by a bump on the head suffered last summer while diving. Judge Young informed the youth he would ask the institution to give him proper medical treatment.

More Jobs, Fewer Convicts

SAN QUENTIN Cal.—Improved business conditions are frankly credited by officials of San Quentin prison for a marked decrease in 1935 of the prison's population. The increased possibility of jobs for paroled inmates made it possible to release 1,215 during the year as against 1,096 in 1934.

ISLE PRISONERS
AGAIN AT WORK

Backbone of Strike Broken as
50 Men Give in

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 23.—(UP)—Mutineering convicts of Alcatraz island federal penitentiary, listing among their number mob rulers of the prohibition and kidnap eras, capitulated slowly today to a bread and water diet and the prison's rigid, inflexible regulations.

Of the 100 prisoners who participated in the passive, bloodless revolt Monday, Tuesday and yesterday, 25 were said to have signified willingness to resume their prison duties today after experiencing the effects of Warden James A. Johnston's "work or starve" decree.

In return for their capitulation, reports said, they were placed once more on normal prison fare. The revolt began Monday among 80 prisoners who quit work in the laundry, demanding relaxation of prison rules and additional privileges.

When their demands were refused, the convicts howled and shrieked their defiance and were locked up in their own small cells or in solitary confinement cells blocks. Twenty more inmates joined the passive resistance campaign Tuesday and matters apparently remained stalemated yesterday, pitting the stubborn, sullen convicts against the unyielding prison administration.

It is a case of me or the convicts running the prison," Warden Johnston said. "They'll find out I'm still in charge."

In announcing the backbone of the strike was broken, the Warden said the remaining 75 demonstrators still were confined in individual cells and restricted to bread and water rations.
